Truman Said Ready To Again Ask Congress For UMT Bill

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11—President Truman is reported ready today to ask Congress to pass a Universal Military Training bill for the conscription of 18 and 19-year-old youths.

Senators said they understood the President and Defense Secretary Johnson have told American Legion officials they favor quick action on UMT.

A 56-page bill, reportedly drafted by the Legion, is being circulated unofficially in the Senate. This bill—which does not necessarily coincide with Mr. Truman's expected request—calls for a one-year training program for youths 17 through 19.

Senate sources said Mr. Truman is inclined to favor a shorter training program of from four to six months.

The draft of the bill being circulated calls for six months of basic training and provides for several alternate programs from which the trainees could choose for the last six months.

IN THIS RESPECT, the bill follows recommendations made by the Truman administration when it kicked up a congressional storm in 1948 by asking for Universal Military Training.

That request was pigeonholed. Other congressional developments in the military expansion program:

1. The new Senate war investigating subcommittee directed the Defense Department to stop sales of surplus weapons and war plants. It asked the military to try to recover weapons and plants already sold. The request was aimed particularly at synthetic rubber and alcohol plants.

2. The full Senate Armed Services Committee asked Defense officials to complete by Tuesday their recommendations on family allowances for draftees. Chairman Tydings, (D) Md., said the committee will approve to provide financial aid to dependents within 10 days.

Some Senate sources said a message from the President asking Universal Military Training may be sent Congress at any time.

Their statement followed public testimony by Rear Adm. H. A. Houser, director of legislative liaison for the Defense Department.

Prince Baudouin Is Named New Regent Of Belgium

BRUSSELS, Aug. 11—Crown Prince Baudouin was decreed regent of Belgium today by a joint session of parliament amid a smokebombing incident which threw the senate chamber into turmoil.

The legislators fled panic-stricken from the chamber while fire-fighters rushed in and doused the bomb which was tossed into the well from the public gallery during the voting.

The vote approving the handing over King Leopold III's royal powers to his 19-year-old son was 349 in favor of the decree with eight abstentions.

Baudouin will carry on the monarch's duties until his 21st birthday, Sept. 7, 1951, when he will ascend the throne.

Leopold virtually was stripped of his constitutional powers last night by parliamentary approval of a bill transferring them to Baudouin.

The Belgian senate was the last to take the action. The chamber of deputies approved the measure Wednesday.

BAUDOUIN is the son of Leopold and his late wife, Princess Astrid, who was killed in an automobile accident in 1935.

Leopold married in 1941 Marie Lilian Baels, daughter of a former Belgian minister of agriculture. As the Princess de Rethy, she is now living at Chateau Pregny in Switzerland, where she is expecting her second child.

Judge's Plan

Cancels Divorce

CHICAGO, Aug. 11—Emil T. Lussow and his wife want to keep on keeping house together—just as a Chicago judge planned it.

When the couple came to Superior Judge Rudolph F. Desort last April to seek a divorce he told them to continue living in the same house while the divorce decree was pending.

But he instructed Lussow's wife, Mildred, 38, to act only as a housekeeper for her spouse. Yesterday they told the judge they want to drop the divorce action.

His subjects refused to accept him back at the end of World War II and he remained in exile until last July 22 when he returned to Laeken Palace in Brussels with Baudouin.

Leopold's recall by the governing Social Christian (Catholic) Party was the signal for an outbreak of strikes, sabotage and bloodshed which carried Belgium in ten days to the brink of civil war.

The Socialists, bitter opponents of the king, led the campaign against his remaining in power. The second-ranking party in the country, their strength lies in the French-speaking Walloon provinces of the south.

Leopold finally agreed after consulting with all major political parties to transfer his powers to his son and abdicate on Baudouin's 21st birthday.

$7,240 Is Loss As Flames Level Barn Near Duvall

A $7,240 barn was destroyed by flames late Thursday on a farm near Duvall.

Ashville and Madison Township fire departments were called at about 6 p. m. Thursday to the Harry Crow farm, just west of Duvall, where a barn filled with hay and straw was on fire. Sheriff Charles Radcliff said that when he and Deputy Walter Richards arrived on the scene the barn had been almost completely destroyed.

William Miller, member of the Ashville volunteer fire department, was overcome by heat from the blaze and was rushed into Berger hospital for treatment. He returned to the fire after being treated.

The sheriff said the barn, a 10-year-old structure, was filled with 4,000 bales of hay, 75 tons of mixed clover and hay and 20 tons of straw valued at $1,840. The barn itself was valued at $5,400, he said.

$3 BILLION MORE FOR WAR

Senate Committee Votes For Big Income Tax Hike

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11—The Senate Finance Committee voted overwhelmingly today to increase income taxes nearly $3 billion a year to help pay the cost of the Korean war and to oppose Communist aggression anywhere on earth.

The committee, adopting without change President Truman's proposal for individual tax increases, also boosted the withholding rate from 15 to 18 percent, effective Oct. 1.

By its action, the committee completed work on the major features of the interim revenue bill requested by the President to raise an additional $5 billion a year to help finance the defense effort and curb inflation.

As an example of what the tax increase will mean, a married man with one child making $5,000 a year will pay a $520 tax on his 1951 income, compared to the $432 he is paying now.

A single person making $3,000 and paying $409 now will pay $468.

In the higher brackets, a single person making $50,000 a year will pay $18,884, compared to the $16,578 he is paying now.

THE TAX PLAN retains the $600 exemption for each dependent and the income-splitting provisions of existing law. However, it repeals the percentage income tax reductions now allowed each taxpayer on his tax return.

These are 17 percent of the first $400 of tax computed at the regular rates, 12 percent of the next $99,600 of tax and 9.75 percent of all tax over $100,000.

The committee instructed the congressional tax staff to work out a plan to exempt from the withholding levy all military personnel in Korea or any other subsequent area of hostility.

This plan would free from income tax entirely all military personnel in battle areas below the rank of commissioned officer and would give commissioned officers a flat exemption which would greatly reduce their tax.

In the last war, all military personnel were allowed a flat exemption of $1,500. This had the effect of granting all non-commissioned personnel freedom from tax. Indications were that the new proposals follow similar lines.

The increase in the withholding rate will go into effect on all paydays on or about Oct. 1. However, for 1950 taxpayers will compute their tax at existing rates and add to it one-fourth of the increase accruing from the higher rates. This is to take care of the tax for the last quarter of the year.

THE FINANCE committee has already approved the President's proposal for an increase in the maximum corporation income of from 38 to 45 percent to yield $1.5 billion a year. It has also adopted a number of "loop-hole-closing" measures and voted a ten percent manufacturers' excise tax on television sets and deep freezers.

The tax increases are being added to the revenue bill passed by the House before the Korean war broke out. This bill contains $1 billion in excise tax cuts but these reductions have been stricken out.

The House-passed bill is being used as the vehicle for higher taxes in the interests of speed, since otherwise a new bill would (Continued on Page Two)

Britain To Take Its Turn Hammering At Reds In UN

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 11—Britain will lead off the growing barrage in the United Nations against Soviet Delegate Jacob Malik today by blasting Russia's claims that the Korean conflict is a "civil war."

Sir Gladwyn Jebb, head of the British UN delegation, will pick up where U. S. Chief Delegate Warren R. Austin left off in the Security Council and pound Malik the moment the session gets underway late today.

The Western drive against Malik, who is council chairman for the month of August, sprang from the Russian's refusal to abide by standing rules and from his defiance of challenges put before him repeatedly on the seating of South Korean Representative John M. Chang.

Considerable punch was put into the Western offensive by President Truman's denunciation yesterday of Malik's tactics as nothing more or less than a filibuster.

There is a possibility, however, that the Russian is coming to this afternoon's session reinforced by new instructions from his government.

Court Ruling Expected In Akron Strike

AKRON, Aug. 11—A court ruling is expected to halt a strike of Akron city service workers tomorrow.

City Law Director Roy E. Browne filed an injunction against Local 800 of the unaffiliated Public Workers Union, charging that the strike menaces the city's health.

Browne asked for an immediate order restraining pickets, but Common Pleas Judge Bernard J. Roetz said he would not issue the order until tomorrow.

"I am delaying the issuance of this injunction," Judge Roetz said "in the hope that the city and the union will get together and put the superior interests of the public ahead of their personal pride."

"Let there be no doubt but that I will issue a restraining order Saturday and the restraint of mass picketing will be one of the points included."

The strike has paralyzed eight service departments affecting some 800 workers. The union is seeking higher wages for members.

Yanks Try Saving Vital Airfield

U. S. Still Gains In Chinju Area

TOKYO, Aug. 12—(Saturday)—Red forces captured Pohang on Korea's east coast Friday night and closed in to attack a nearby U. S. airfield, but an armored American relief column broke through enemy roadblocks to help defend the fighter base.

As the opposite end of the curving Korean front, American troops seized commanding heights on the eastern outskirts of Chinju and the Communists were reported abandoning their southern anchor base.

General Douglas MacArthur reported early Saturday that "heavy fighting" continued at Nakdong river defense line breaches.

For the first time in many days MacArthur reported enemy planes in action, four being seen over the Nakdong battle area.

MacArthur also announced: "A report states the North Koreans are preparing to move their seat of government to Seoul (fallen South Korea capital) Aug. 15, thereby demonstrating to the world the unity of North and South Korea and justifying their 'liberation' policies."

ONE OF THE Korean war's fiercest battles was erupting around the isolated airstrip six miles southeast of fallen Pohang as the American tank task force broke out of an enemy ambush trap and reached the beleaguered field.

The armored unit was intercepted by Red mortar and machine gunners some 10 miles west of the fighter base, but smashed its way through a series of enemy roadblocks. It reached the airstrip just before darkness fell Friday night.

The tanks of the relief task force were immediately assigned by the air base commander, Col. Robert Witty, to positions along a defense perimeter drawn around the field.

Meanwhile, two C-47 transport planes landed at the airstrip, which was already under enemy fire, and delivered much-needed ammunition to the defenders.

All other U. S. planes were flown away to other—and safer—fields.

The enemy's swift push down the eastern shore was matched by further American westward advances along Korea's south coast where the Reds were reported to have begun withdrawing from Chinju, their vital anchor base.

A Friday night communique from U. S. 8th Army field headquarters in Korea announced that the Army's 35th Regiment captured high ground "immediately east of Chinju" during the day's heavy fighting.

"There are reports that Chinju is being evacuated," said the (Continued on Page Two)

The House cited Bart first and then swiftly took the same action against James J. Matles, national organizational director of the leftwing United Electrical Workers Union.

Henry Wallace Tags Russia As Aggressor

NEW YORK, Aug. 11—Henry A. Wallace believes that the United States is actually at war with Russia in the Korean fighting, and has accused Russia of being "clearly the aggressor."

Wallace, in a statement last night, repudiated completely the Progressive Party which he founded and on which he ran for President.

The former vice-president said that he left the party after its leaders refused to send a cable to Premier Stalin calling on him to halt the North Korean fighting.

Wallace said that he has refused to sign the so-called "Stockholm Peace Petition," which the government has labelled a Communist stunt. He declared:

"Stalin is a dictator and Russia is a totalitarian power." Denying that he was ever under Communist influence, Wallace said:

"I never went along with the Communists. I never read the Daily Worker, I never conferred with the Communists."

Churchill Raps Europe's Failure To Aid America

STRASBOURG, Aug. 11—Winston Churchill criticized European states today for failing fully to aid the U. S. and demanded that the Council of Europe support U. S. action in Korea.

Warning that "all of us are in great danger," Churchill called for the immediate creation of a European army to keep the peace.

The wartime British prime minister declared at the council's assembly session in Strasbourg: "It would be absurd to discuss the future of Europe if one wanted to disregard the military aspect of the problem."

"Messieurs, all of us are in great danger. Britain and the United States must send large land forces to the continent."

"We live in the shadow of Russian aggression. This impression is supported by extraordinarily powerful Russian military forces. In comparison with our own forces Russian power is superior to us by six or seven to one."

"In Europe nothing has been done to aid the Americans except the cession of air bases by England."

REFERRING to a speech by Andre Philip, French Socialist who said no one wanted to be liberated again, Churchill asserted:

"After Russian occupation there would not be much to liberate."

Then he asked:

"Would we have time to oppose Russian aggression?

"We do not know."

He went on to say that thanks to the atomic bomb, Soviet aggression has been provisionally delayed.

"However," he added, "Stalin has no reason to complain. He has succeeded in controlling China and part of Europe without sacrificing a single Russian soldier."

He prophesied that Tibet might be Stalin's next victim and said he believes the West may still have two years in which to rearm.

Churchill said he was "glad that the Germans came to Strasbourg to share our perils." He said they should have been represented at the consultative assembly a year ago.

"I have declared," he said, "that if the Germans have decided to tie their fate to ours we will assure them their liberty which will be as sacred as ours."

He added that the two-year period should be used "to halt Russian aggression and prevent an outbreak of World War III."

"The two years," he continued, "should be used for discussions with the Soviets but these discussions we should support by our strength and not by our weakness."

Urging adoption of his motion for "immediate creation of a unified European army subject to proper Democratic control and acting in full cooperation with the United States and Canada," for the maintenance of peace, Churchill concluded:

"There is not a day to be lost."

U. S. Still Gains In Chinju Area

TOKYO, Aug. 12—(Saturday)—Red forces captured Pohang on Korea's east coast Friday night and closed in to attack a nearby U. S. airfield, but an armored American relief column broke through enemy roadblocks to help defend the fighter base.

As the opposite end of the curving Korean front, American troops seized commanding heights on the eastern outskirts of Chinju and the Communists were reported abandoning their southern anchor base.

General Douglas MacArthur reported early Saturday that "heavy fighting" continued at Nakdong river defense line breaches.

For the first time in many days MacArthur reported enemy planes in action, four being seen over the Nakdong battle area.

MacArthur also announced: "A report states the North Koreans are preparing to move their seat of government to Seoul (fallen South Korea capital) Aug. 15, thereby demonstrating to the world the unity of North and South Korea and justifying their 'liberation' policies."

ONE OF THE Korean war's fiercest battles was erupting around the isolated airstrip six miles southeast of fallen Pohang as the American tank task force broke out of an enemy ambush trap and reached the beleaguered field.

The armored unit was intercepted by Red mortar and machine gunners some 10 miles west of the fighter base, but smashed its way through a series of enemy roadblocks. It reached the airstrip just before darkness fell Friday night.

The tanks of the relief task force were immediately assigned by the air base commander, Col. Robert Witty, to positions along a defense perimeter drawn around the field.

Meanwhile, two C-47 transport planes landed at the airstrip, which was already under enemy fire, and delivered much-needed ammunition to the defenders.

All other U. S. planes were flown away to other—and safer—fields.

The enemy's swift push down the eastern shore was matched by further American westward advances along Korea's south coast where the Reds were reported to have begun withdrawing from Chinju, their vital anchor base.

A Friday night communique from U. S. 8th Army field headquarters in Korea announced that the Army's 35th Regiment captured high ground "immediately east of Chinju" during the day's heavy fighting.

"There are reports that Chinju is being evacuated," said the (Continued on Page Two)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11—The House today cited Philip Bart, managing editor of the Communist Daily Worker, and a left wing union leader, for contempt of Congress.

Both now face prosecution for refusal to answer questions asked by the House Un-American Activities Committee on grounds of possible self-incrimination.

The House cited Bart first and then swiftly took the same action against James J. Matles, national organizational director of the leftwing United Electrical Workers Union.

bulletin issued shortly before 8:30 p. m.

BY SEIZING the heights overlooking Chinju from the east, the communists declared that the 35th Regiment had "successfully completed its phase of the first major United Nations counter-offensive of the Korean war."

The 35th proceeded along the northern route of the triple-pronged American offensive in the southern sector which wrecked an enemy attempt to drive on the key stone port of Pusan from the west.

In the center and along the south flank of the offensive, the 8th Army bulletin related, harassing fire from bypassed enemy pockets slowed the advance of the Army's 5th Regiment and of U. S. Marines.

But the 5th was declared to be "nearing its objective" while the Marines, overpowering "strong resistance," complete the capture of Kosong which the Leathernecks had entered Thursday. Kosong, a road center, is 20 miles southeast of Chinju.

Northeast of the Chinju sector, the communists said, an enemy group which had thrust out of the Red bridgehead across the lower Nakdong southwest of Changnyong was "contained" by counter-attacking U. S. 24th Division troops.

This apparently referred to a relatively small enemy force which had started moving south toward Masan in an effort to slice through the rear communications of the U. S. Army and Marine units driving on Chinju.

The 8th Army bulletin said the 24th Division's "trouble spot"—the Red bridgehead on the Nakdong's east bank six miles southwest of Changnyong—successfully resisted American efforts to erase it.

The communists added that farther north and northeast the enemy was continuing his pressure with "increasing forces" from the Waegun to the Uisong areas. The war's largest armored and infantry Red concentrations were massed along the middle Nakdong's west bank opposite Waegwan.

The 8th Army's communiqué made no mention of the loss of Pohang which was revealed in front dispatches telling of developments later than those covered in the official bulletin.

The 8th Army announcement said merely that "enemy forces penetrating the Pohang area were engaged throughout the day" by South Korean troops.

UMT Bill Pondered

said it would be better for the President to wait until January.

SEN. RUSSELL, (D) Ga., a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee which would handle the legislation, said, "I always supported UMT. If it had been in effect in the last four or five years, the Korean incident would never have occurred. It is the most reasonable way to get trained men."

Sen. Saltonstall, (R) Mass., also a member of the committee, said: "I have an open mind on it."

Chairman Lyndon B. Johnson, (D) Texas, of the Senate was investigating subcommittee, wrote Defense Secretary Johnson that continued sales of surplus weapons and war plants "could result in a disservice to national security."

The senator made it clear that his unit's first probe will be of the entire surplus question. It was understood the unit is concerned with the disposal of real property, including air fields as well as war plants.

suggestions of last Tuesday for possible suspension of Malik as chairman or boycotting the council for the rest of August have found little support among the other eight members.

The majority has decided that for the present, the best method is to blast and punch away at Malik day by day and trade blows hard and fast.

One of the weapons being brought up by the U. S. is a second major report on Korea from Gen. Douglas MacArthur as head of the UN forces. The council will thereby have the grim pleasure of watching Malik gulp and swallow to avoid reading as chairman the report dealing with military intervention by UN, a subject he has fought up and down since he returned after 29 weeks of boycotting the council on Aug. 1.

The charge which Malik will seek to knock down as made by Austin yesterday concerned the implication that Russia is supplying guns and tanks to the "zombie" government of North Korea. Malik retorted that those weapons were "sold" to the North Koreans prior to the withdrawal of Russian troops.

Speakers At Joint Meeting Lash Commies, Socialized Government

When Circleville Rotarians and Chamber of Commerce members held a joint luncheon meeting in Elks diningroom Thursday, the result was a double-barreled program featuring two guest speakers.

William C. Bryant, assistant to state attorney general, was introduced by Russel Palm, program chairman, of Rotary.

Bryant, in speaking on "The Relation of the Attorney General to the County Prosecutor" immediately waded into the Communists.

"We have a law that is a real toughie, the Law of Criminal Syndicalism. It should be used in dealing with Communists. Moreover it can be used. It has been upheld by the supreme court of Ohio. It is not a new law. It has been on the statute books for 25 years. Laws are made to be used when the necessity arises."

Bryant stated the law of Criminal Syndicalism was not for people with vague theories but for Communists who deliberately fomented riot and bloodshed "of whom there were plenty in Ohio."

Bryant, who cut short his talk in deference to the other speaker, said that the attorney general invariably leaves the enforcement of criminal law up to the county prosecutors who are close to the community.

Harry Lintz, member of National Chamber of Commerce, was introduced by Leslie May, local chamber president.

LINTZ QUOTED Senator Robert Taft as saying "If the 82nd Congress is as far left of the 81st Congress as the 81st Congress was left of the 80th Congress the Social Welfare State will be here."

Lintz, who represented the Department of Government Affairs of the national chamber, said the department had been in existence only five years and came into being through dire necessity of counteracting the work of certain pressure groups in Washington.

Lintz skimmed over five of the seven issues which his department is attacking, namely Brannan plan of agriculture and federal aid to education.

He took time however to enlarge on the dangers of socialization.

Army Calls Reserves

Total officer Reserves amount to 64,400.

Specifically, the order affected officers in 16 combat arms and service categories below the rank of major. The Army also will take medical and medical service officers and veterinary officers below the rank of major, and dentists below lieutenant colonel.

The first one-third of the combat and service officers will report for duty by Sept. 22, the second third by Sept. 29 and all by Oct. 6.

All will have to pass regular army physical examinations. Combat leaders will be required to qualify on age requirements. If they are above age they may be called for duty in a service organization.

All told the Army will call up 1,808 captains and 6,054 lieutenants in the service and combat arms.

In the Second Army Area, which includes Ohio, the call is going out to 348 captains and 1,075 lieutenants. Of this number 308 will be medical—16 veterinarians, 138 dental officers and 154 physicians.

The Army told its area commanders to work closely with local state medical societies on the recall of medical officers and published a deferment schedule covering the problem of vitally needed doctors.

Under the plan, the Army first will call Reserve medical officers with no previous active military service, followed by officers with less than one year of extended active duty and so on.

The Army said it will try to fill the 1,682 medical, dental, veterinary and medical service corp personnel on a voluntary basis.

The Army has about 64,400 officers in the organized and unorganized Reserve. However, officials indicated members of the unorganized Reserves will be called as was the case with the callup of the enlisted Reservists.

The Army is building up to a strength of one million men by next June 30. Under present plans it should reach the 800,000 mark in October with the callup of four National Guard divisions, two Guard combat teams and Reserve elements.

Warrant Officer Appointment Is Given To Gray

Charles Gray of 369 East Mound street has received an appointment as warrant officer junior grade in the Ohio National Guards.

Gray received his papers for the promotion Friday, retroactive to Aug. 8. He has been first sergeant in Circleville's Co. 1, 166th Infantry during the last three years.

Prior to his work in the Guards, Gray was a veteran of three years' service in the U. S. Army with 23 months of overseas duty to his credit. He earned the rank of technical sergeant in the U. S. combat engineers.

U. S. Food Situation Improves As Growing Season Lengthens

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11—The nation's food and feed situation continues to improve generally as the growing season wears on.

Most crops are showing considerable improvement over a month ago and the Agriculture Department has revised its production forecasts upward from July 1 crop conditions on the strength of Aug. 1 conditions.

The corn crop is now expected to be the fourth largest on record, and the wheat crop is showing up close to the billion bushel mark and is much better than was expected earlier.

In addition, the department's latest crop report indicates a very large oats crop, the second-largest outturn of sorghum grain, but a smaller than average barley crop. Hay supplies will be the most liberal of record. Pasture is generally in excellent condition.

Soybeans and sugarbeets are expected to be in record production. Other above-average crops include: Oats, rice, sugarcane, cherries, hops, potatoes, tobacco and apples.

BELOW AVERAGE crops, on the other hand, include: Cotton, flaxseed, dry beans, peanuts, sweet potatoes, pears, grapes, apricots and pecans. Dry beans, buckwheat, rye, broomcorn and peaches will be far below average.

The aggregate volume of all crops is said to be "rather high." The department says that over-all production this year looks like it will be far above the 1923-32 base year. Over-all production has been topped by only three other years: 1946, 1948 and 1949.

According to the latest crop survey, non-citrus fruits as a

A committee test on an excess profits tax on corporations is also forecast, but several committee members said they do not expect this plan to receive much support.

Sen. Connally, (D) Texas, said he would offer an excess profits tax amendment if no other committee member does. Connally has long been an advocate of an excess profits levy.

"The committee will not adopt an excess profits tax at this time," Sen. Hoey, (D) N. C., declared. "This will be held over until next year. The President is not advocating it now."

Speakers At Joint Meeting Lash Commies, Socialized Government

When Circleville Rotarians and Chamber of Commerce members held a joint luncheon meeting in Elks diningroom Thursday, the result was a double-barreled program featuring two guest speakers.

William C. Bryant, assistant to state attorney general, was introduced by Russel Palm, program chairman, of Rotary.

Bryant, in speaking on "The Relation of the Attorney General to the County Prosecutor" immediately waded into the Communists.

"We have a law that is a real toughy, the Law of Criminal Syndicalism. It should be used in dealing with Communists. Moreover it can be used. It has been upheld by the supreme court of Ohio. It is not a new law. It has been on the statute books for 25 years. Laws are made to be used when the necessity arises."

Bryant stated the law of Criminal Syndicalism was not for people with vague theories but for Communists who deliberately fomented riot and bloodshed "of whom there were plenty in Ohio."

Bryant, who cut short his talk in deference to the other speaker, said that the attorney general invariably leaves the enforcement of criminal law up to the county prosecutors who are close to the community.

Harry Lintz, member of National Chamber of Commerce, was introduced by Leslie May, local chamber president.

LINTZ QUOTED Senator Robert Taft as saying "If the 82nd Congress is as far left of the 81st Congress as the 81st Congress was left of the 80th Congress the Social Welfare State will be here."

Lintz, who represented the Department of Government Affairs of the national chamber, said the department had been in existence only five years and came into being through dire necessity of counteracting the work of certain pressure groups in Washington.

He took time however to enlarge on the dangers of socialization.

City Worker Falls, Is Hurt

Charlotte McEwing of 144 1/2 Watt street, cashier in the Circleville sewage disposal office, suffered a cut over her left eye early Friday as she was walking to work.

Witnesses said they saw Miss McEwing stagger momentarily on the sidewalk near City Hall on South Court street, reach out toward a building for support and fall to the pavement. She apparently fainted.

She was rushed to Berger hospital for treatment. Her condition is reported fair.

Army Calls Reserves

Total officer Reserves amount to 64,400.

Specifically, the order affected officers in 16 combat arms and service categories below the rank of major. The Army also will take medical and medical service officers and veterinary officers below the rank of major, and dentists below lieutenant colonel.

The first one-third of the combat and service officers will report for duty by Sept. 22, the second third by Sept. 29 and all by Oct. 6.

All will have to pass regular army physical examinations. Combat leaders will be required to qualify on age requirements. If they are above age they may be called for duty in a service organization.

All told the Army will call up 1,808 captains and 6,054 lieutenants in the service and combat arms.

In the Second Army Area, which includes Ohio, the call is going out to 348 captains and 1,075 lieutenants. Of this number 308 will be medical—16 veterinarians, 138 dental officers and 154 physicians.

The Army told its area commanders to work closely with local state medical societies on the recall of medical officers and published a deferment schedule covering the problem of vitally needed doctors.

Under the plan, the Army first will call Reserve medical officers with no previous active military service, followed by officers with less than one year of extended active duty and so on.

The Army said it will try to obtain the 1,882 medical, dental, veterinary and medical service corp personnel on a voluntary basis.

The Army has about 64,400 officers in the organized and unorganized Reserve. However, officials indicated members of the unorganized Reserve will be called as was the case with the callup of the enlisted Reservists.

The Army is building up to a strength of one million men by next June 30. Under present plans it should reach the 800,000 mark in October with the callup of four National Guard divisions, two Guard combat teams and Reserve elements.

Warrant Officer Appointment Is Given To Gray

Charles Gray of 369 East Mound street has received an appointment as warrant officer junior grade in the Ohio National Guards.

Gray received his papers for the promotion Friday, retroactive to Aug. 8. He has been first sergeant in Circleville's Co. I, 166th Infantry during the last three years.

Prior to his work in the Guards, Gray was a veteran of three years' service in the U. S. Army with 23 months of overseas duty to his credit. He earned the rank of technical sergeant in the U. S. combat engineers.

U. S. Food Situation Improves As Growing Season Lengthens

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11—The nation's food and feed situation continues to improve generally as the growing season wears on.

Most crops are showing considerable improvement over a month ago and the Agriculture Department has revised its production forecasts upward from July 1 crop conditions on the strength of Aug. 1 conditions.

The corn crop is now expected to be the fourth largest on record, and the wheat crop is showing up close to the billion bushel mark and is much better than was expected earlier.

In addition, the department's latest crop report indicates a very large oats crop, the second-largest outturn of sorghum grain, but a smaller than average barley crop. Hay supplies will be the most liberal of record. Pasture is generally in excellent condition.

Soybeans and sugarbeets are expected to be in record production. Other above-average crops include: Oats, rice, sugarcane, cherries, hops, potatoes, tobacco and apples.

BELOW AVERAGE crops, on the other hand, include: Cotton, flaxseed, dry beans, peanuts, sweet potatoes, pears, grapes, apricots and pecans. Dry beans, buckwheat, rye, broomcorn and peaches will be far below average.

The aggregate volume of all crops is said to be "rather high." The department says that over-all production this year looks like it will be far above the 1923-32 base year. Over-all production has been topped by only three other years: 1946, 1948 and 1949.

According to the latest crop survey, non-citrus fruits as a

Senate Committee Votes For Big Income Tax Hike

have to be started through the House.

Chairman George, (D) Ga., said the finance committee will complete action on the bill Monday or Tuesday. There are several minor technical matters still to be disposed of. The bill is to be called up in the Senate the latter part of next week.

A committee test on an excess profits tax on corporations is also forecast, but several committee members said they do not expect this plan to receive much support.

Sen. Connally, (D) Texas, said he would offer an excess profits tax amendment if no other committee member does. Connally has long been an advocate of an excess profits levy.

"The committee will not adopt an excess profits tax at this time," Sen. Hoey, (D) N. C., declared. "This will be held over until next year. The President is not advocating it now."

Truckers Cited For Driving Noisy Vehicles

Two out-of-state truck drivers were arrested Thursday in Circleville for operating trucks improperly muffled.

George Washington Bobbitt, 37, of Roanoke, Va., was released on $10 bond for allegedly operating a truck not equipped with a muffler.

Jesse Leroy Bishop Jr., 27, of Walnut Cove, N. C., also was released on $10 bond on an accusation that he operated a truck equipped with a noisy muffler.

Both men were arrested on South Court street by Officers Harold Green and Carl Thompson.

The officers also arrested Otis Boggs, 31, of Sciotoville, for driving his truck through a stop light at Court and Main streets. Boggs was released on $3 bond.

Olavi Roinen, 41, of Columbus, forfeited $3 bond Thursday for disregarding a stop signal at Court and Main streets. Roinen was arrested by Officer Turney Ross.

Senate Snubs

3 Nominations

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11—The Senate today returned to President Truman three turn-downs of nominations he had sent to Capitol Hill.
The slapsdowns came in one-two-three order. On one there was a rollcall vote, 59 to 14, and in the others it was an overwhelming voice vote.
In each case senators charged that the President bypassed them, and that he failed to "advise" with the Senate as the Constitution requires.

Those turned down were: Martin A. Hutchinson of Virginia, for Federal Trade Commissioner.
M. Neil Andrews, for district judge in Northern Georgia.
Carroll O. Switzer, for district judge in Southern Iowa.

There is no law against melting down silver coins.

Assault Case

Is Dropped

ALLIANCE, Aug. 11—An assault and battery charge filed May 31 against Superintendent of Alliance Schools Russell E. Schafer has been withdrawn by agreement of attorneys in the case.
The action came just a day after a Stark County common pleas court ruled that Schafer was duly entitled to be superintendent of schools and could not be replaced by Ralph D. Purdy of Conneaut, as the school board had planned.

The Alliance school head was to stand trial today on the assault charge, brought by Hillison D. Hawkins who claimed Schafer struck Hawkins' son, Barry, at a meeting in the superintendent's office.

Senate Snubs

3 Nominations

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11—The Senate today returned to President Truman three turn-downs of nominations he had sent to Capitol Hill.

The slapsdowns came in one-two-three order. On one there was a rollcall vote, 59 to 14, and in the others it was an overwhelming voice vote.

In each case senators charged that the President bypassed them, and that he failed to "advise" with the Senate as the Constitution requires.

Those turned down were:

Martin A. Hutchinson of Virginia, for Federal Trade Commissioner.

M. Neil Andrews, for district judge in Northern Georgia.

Carroll O. Switzer, for district judge in Southern Iowa.

There is no law against melting down silver coins.

Assault Case

Is Dropped

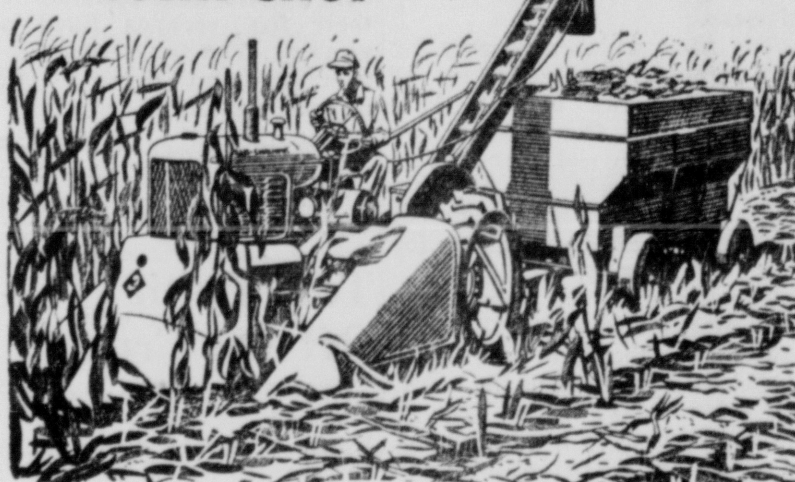

ALLIANCE, Aug. 11—An assault and battery charge filed May 31 against Superintendent of Alliance Schools Russell E. Schafer has been withdrawn by agreement of attorneys in the case.

The action came just a day after a Stark County common pleas court ruled that Schafer was duly entitled to be superintendent of schools and could not be replaced by Ralph D. Purdy of Conneaut, as the school board had planned.

The Alliance school head was to stand trial today on the assault charge, brought by Hillson D. Hawkins who claimed Schafer struck Hawkins' son, Barry, at a meeting in the superintendent's office.

The British army, steeped in its own traditions and honoring legendary customs that go far back into history, has followed an American example today in strengthening its forces against possible aggression.

This is the massive use of civilians as an adjunct to the troops to relieve them of all responsibility save that of fighting and winning a war.

The Army of the United States, swinging into action after Pearl Harbor, established a military innovation by widespread use of non-military aid.

At the present time, the U. S. has one civilian in service for every two soldiers.

Great Britain's new mobilization is not quite so lavish. There is one civilian for every three Britons in uniform. But this nevertheless is a far cry from the days when Kipling wrote: "It's

Congressional Race Features 2 Jenkinses

IRONTON, Aug. 11—The re-election of Thomas A. Jenkins, Ironton Republican who is dean of the Buckeye state's congressional delegation, hinges today on the letters "A" and "B".

The "A" in Jenkins' name will have to be outstanding enough to be distinguished by voters from the name of Thomas B. Jenkins of Oak Hill who has filed petitions as an independent candidate for the 10th congressional district.

For more than 20 years, Thomas A. Jenkins had held a congressional seat and was re-nominated by the Republican Party in the May primaries.

Emerson R. Simons, Lawrence County board of elections clerk in Ironton, said Thomas B. Jenkins filed 33 petitions on the deadline of the filing period for independent tickets. Simons said the petitions had 774 names—"more than enough to qualify him."

With both Jenkinses appearing on the new Massachusetts-type ballot under the heading of congressman, voters will have to make their choice from Thomas A. Jenkins whose name will have the word "Republican" following after it and Thomas B. Jenkins who will be tagged as "Independent."

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11—The State Department considered widespread distribution today of a Russian propaganda film which boomeranged from its avowed purpose of depicting the horrors of life in the United States.

A preview was given to a group of newsmen of a German language film, described under the title of "What the Russians Are Saying About Us."

It had been on display in Eastern Germany until it was discovered that even the "horrible" scenes displayed a standard of living far above that of the viewers.

The film, which runs only for four minutes, is made up of scraps of views over a long period of time. One scene shows an officer in a riot scene wearing the old World War I campaign hat—a widebrimmed, pinched affair designed for desert fighting.

Opening with an unfavorable shot of the Statue of Liberty, taken from the Base to exclude the classic features of the work, the viewer is taken through Times Square, to a night club—of about the 1935 period—through the tenements, a labor riot, and wrestling in Madison Square Garden.

The commentator, whose remarks have been translated and dubbed in over a shrieking German voice, derides the luxury of Meanwhile, Willard Dobbs, a CIO United Auto Workers union leader, announced that the union has dropped its demands for a pension. The company and union have been in contract negotiations since last April.

The union is asking for a 10-cent hourly wage increase.

"How do you get a boy friend?" asks a high school freshman.

Just like that—in a few little words—she asks a question that an encyclopedia-sized book could only begin to answer! There's not enough space here for a very complete list of suggestions, but here are a few. Ready? Go!

Boy friends don't drop out of the "wide blue yonder"; you've doubtless discovered that. Most girls have to get acquainted with boys on a friendly basis before the boys suggest a date and the date leads to a more or less steady Friday night schedule.

Some lucky girls attract boy friends merely by looking pretty, but the majority get acquainted with boys in their neighborhood, at school, at church and church young people's activities.

Don't overlook sports. They're not only fun, but you "meet such interesting people" who also like to play tennis, swim, play badminton, bicycle, skate, play soft ball, hike, ski, etc.

And don't forget to be and

State Fair Due To Open With Loud Military Crash

COLUMBUS, Aug. 11 — The Ohio Centennial State Fair will open Aug. 26 with a military crash.

But it will be the musical crash of the 50-piece Second Army band, the 37th Infantry Division band, with 45 pieces, and a dozen musical units of the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

State Agriculture Director H. S. Foust, who runs the fair, has announced that all these groups will be part of the Veterans' and Armed Forces Day celebration, scheduled for the opening day for the first time in fair history.

Lt. Gen. John E. Hull of Greenfield, director of the weapon systems evaluation group in Washington, will deliver the principal address. General Hull headed a mission to build the atomic energy proving ground at Eniwetok and is a former commanding general of the U. S. ground forces in the Pacific.

Starting at 4 p. m. on the opening Saturday, soldiers, sailors, Marines, veterans and their auxiliary units will parade for an hour and a half through the grounds and around the grandstand oval.

THROUGHOUT Armed Forces Day, there will be a display of guns, tanks, armed vehicles and other weapons and a bomber, if one can be spared from active duty.

The Legion and VFW musical units will compete for $4,000 in cash prizes and there will be special demonstrations by Ohio State Drum Major Devon Kessling and Pat Rarick and her majorettes from Lewisburg high school.

Later in the fair there will be a baton-twirling contest and performances by the Alf-Ohio Boys

Band, for the benefit of the juniors.

Of particular interest to farmers will be the new and separate sale of prize steers for the junior division.

Also for the first time will be the presentation of the "King Albert Cup" to the best Belgian stallion or mare at the American Belgian Show during the judging Monday and Tuesday.

A Sunday morning sermon will be presented at interdenominational worship service by Dr. George W. Crane, columnist, psychologist, lecturer and nationally-known Methodist.

Other innovations are the state championship horseshoe pitching tournament, formerly an annual event at Cedar Point, and a twice-daily style show.

IN ADDITION to the state championship, horseshoe tossers will compete for the fourth annual Ohio State Fair championships and in the junior, ladies and old-timers divisions.

Gold certificates will be presented to the winners of the third annual competitive music festival, featuring contests for voice, piano, violin, cello, organ, women's and men's choruses and mixed ensembles.

Evening amusements will include the Ohio State Fair Revue, a grandstand musical extravaganza, and the horse show.

"My four-year-old son had little appetite and his cheeks were pale. He now takes HADACOL and his cheeks are rosy and he has a wonderful appetite. I also had gastric disturbances, but they are gone now. My father took HADACOL for the agonizing aches and pains of neuritis. He is much better now."

G'S TO BE HONORED

State Fair Due To Open With Loud Military Crash

COLUMBUS, Aug. 11 — The Ohio Centennial State Fair will open Aug. 26 with a military crash.

But it will be the musical crash of the 50-piece Second Army band, the 37th Infantry Division band, with 45 pieces, and a dozen musical units of the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

State Agriculture Director H. S. Foust, who runs the fair, has announced that all these groups will be part of the Veterans' and Armed Forces Day celebration, scheduled for the opening day for the first time in fair history.

Lt. Gen. John E. Hull of Greenfield, director of the weapon systems evaluation group in Washington, will deliver the principal address. General Hull headed a mission to build the atomic energy proving ground at Eniwetok and is a former commanding general of the U. S. ground forces in the Pacific.

Starting at 4 p. m. on the opening Saturday, soldiers, sailors, Marines, veterans and their auxiliary units will parade for an hour and a half through the grounds and around the grandstand oval.

THROUGHOUT Armed Forces Day, there will be a display of guns, tanks, armed vehicles and other weapons and a bomber, if one can be spared from active duty.

The Legion and VFW musical units will compete for $4,000 in cash prizes and there will be special demonstrations by Ohio State Drum Major Devon Kessling and Pat Rarick and her majorettes from Lewisburg high school.

Later in the fair there will be a baton-twirling contest and performances by the All-Ohio Boys

Band, for the benefit of the juniors.

Of particular interest to farmers will be the new and separate sale of prize steers for the junior division.

Also for the first time will be the presentation of the "King Albert Cup" to the best Belgian stallion or mare at the American Belgian Show during the judging Monday and Tuesday.

A Sunday morning sermon will be presented at interdenominational worship service by Dr. George W. Crane, columnist, psychologist, lecturer and nationally-known Methodist.

Other innovations are the state championship horseshoe pitching tournament, formerly an annual event at Cedar Point, and a twice-daily style show.

IN ADDITION to the state championship, horseshoe tossers will compete for the fourth annual Ohio State Fair championships and in the junior, ladies and old-timers divisions.

Gold certificates will be presented to the winners of the third annual competitive music festival, featuring contests for voice, piano, violin, cello, organ, women's and men's choruses and mixed ensembles.

Evening amusements will include the Ohio State Fair Revue, a grandstand musical extravaganza, and the horse show.

IN WRONG DIRECTION

WHATEVER line of reasoning the administration followed in attributing peaceful motives to Russia it seems to have led in the wrong direction.

What had been going on behind the iron curtain was either unknown to our intelligence department, or put off as meaningless. No one seems to have attached any importance to the fact that Russia was building tanks at the rate of 1,000 a month. That it had the largest fleet of modern submarines in history. That division after division of well trained and well armed men only awaited a call to action.

Apparently Washington was naive enough to believe Russia was doing all these things just for exercise. That fleets of submarines, the thousands of planes and tanks, the men in armed array, were just to look at or to be shown to visitors when there are no visitors. Washington seemed to have forgotten that Stalin, moved by greed and hatred for a free people, has his hopes set on conquering the United States as the last remaining strong foe of Communism.

Here at home the people have been kept complacent with sugar-tit gimmicks. If any citizen, more forthright than the average, warned of the perils of Russian aggression he was put down as a jingo and a warmonger.

Now we are faced with a situation for which we are ill prepared. We must find hope in the fact that America has never entered a war except from a standing start. But the time has come to forget politics and marshal the forces of America under the banner of patriotism.

MR. ROBESON'S PASSPORT

THERE will doubtless be outbursts from Communist and other leftwing source at the demand of the Department of State that Paul Robeson, native American and noted singer, surrender his passport. He has refused to give it up. The ground of the demand, according to the State Department spokesman, is that it would not be in the interest of the United States for Robeson to go abroad.

It is unlawful to leave the United States without a passport, other than for destinations in the Western Hemisphere.

Citizenship bestows no right to a passport. Issuance of a passport is at the discretion of the secretary of state. This discretion is considered inherent in his mandate to conduct foreign relations. If the secretary of state decides that it is not in the interest of the United States for a citizen to be granted a passport, there is no appeal. The discretion is absolute.

The State Department has not explained its reasons for wanting Robeson to surrender his passport. About three weeks ago, Robeson was the principal speaker at a meeting in Harlem at which he demanded "hands off Korea." That would appear to be the reason.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

As recently as July 26, the State Department issued a printed sheet, entitled "Views of the Department of State on Certain Questions Relating to China." This is a form used in reply to "numerous inquiries" received by the department concerning its attitude toward the seating of Soviet China in the United Nations.

The copy I have was issued one month after the Korean war was started, at one of the most devastating moments in our history when it seemed as though such a small country as Korea would push us into the Japan Sea. Apparently, the State Department is so aloof from the facts of life that it can ignore such matters.

This is what the form statement says: "United States representatives at the United Nations have been instructed to vote against motions which would deprive National government representatives of the seat which in our view they are entitled to occupy in the Security Council and in other United Nations organs. With respect to the Security Council, we do not believe that decisions on the seating of rival claimants seeking to represent a council member are subject to the veto. A decision of this nature relates to the organization and administration of the Security Council and is the type of decision which, under Article 27 of the charter, can be made by an affirmative vote of any seven members. Impossible consequences would arise from any other interpretation of the charter. If the veto were applicable to this type of decision, the representative of any permanent member of the council could perpetuate his position regardless of any changes in the government of his country. Moreover, a permanent member could indefinitely prevent the seating of representatives of non-permanent members of the council or any changes in the representation of a permanent member. The results of such an interpretation could be that the Security Council would not be able to function."

Then it adds this conclusion:

"If a United Nation organ should vote, in accordance with its rules of procedure, to seat a Chinese Communist representative, we would accept the will of the majority and continue active participation in such organizations fulfilling in good faith our duties as a United Nations member. Such action on our part, would of course, not constitute recognition by this government of the Chinese Communist regime."

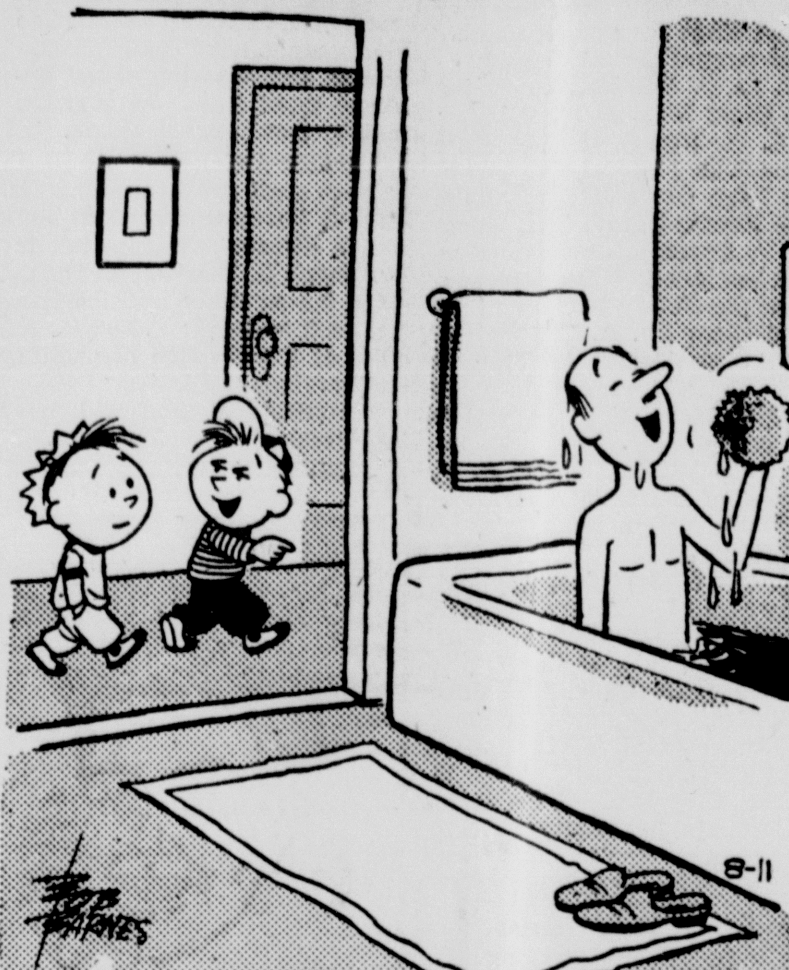

Shortly after this statement was mailed, General Douglas MacArthur went to Formosa to visit Chiang Kai-shek to arrange for cooperation between Formosa and our forces in Korea, undoubtedly to provide munitions for Nationalist China, and to aid in the pursuit of a war. Should Soviet China, which now has about 200,000 troops in Manchuria ready to strike at our forces in Korea, actually engage in this Korean war, Chiang's guerrilla efforts on the mainland must be of essential significance. Actually, Soviet China has been forced to deploy a large force to deal with Chiang.

Yet, the State Department continues to issue circulars as though there were no war; as though Malik had not named the United States the aggressor in the Korean war; as though our boys are not dying in battle. This is carrying routine beyond reason.

It is still believed that life is probably impossible on the other planets which astronomers have been able to study. Sometimes it appears that we are bent on making the earth more closely resemble its space neighbors.

DIET AND HEALTH

Few Insect Bites Are More Troublesome Than Chiggers'

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

DURING the summer months when picnics and expeditions to the country are popular, parents are always faced with the problem of insect bites. Few of these can be more troublesome than those caused by chiggers.

Most people believe that these little pests are confined to the southern states but, as a matter of fact, they occur in all parts of the country and anyone is likely to become infested with them who has much contact with underbrush or low-growing vegetation. It is true, however, that women and children have more trouble from them than do men.

Tiny Parasite

The technical name for chiggers is Trombicula, a tiny parasite which is present in great numbers on wild-growing plants and vines.

When the parasites get on the skin, they move about until they reach a place where the clothing presses and there they attach themselves to obtain nourishment, at the same time depositing a secretion. It is this secretion which causes the rash. It does not appear, however, until the following day, by which time the parasites themselves have usually dropped off.

At first, the rash may be made up of red spots, pimples or blisters. There is a great deal of itching which, of course leads to scratching, and often infection of the skin with germs. In the end, the rash changes to hard, slightly-raised pimples which are bright red in color. These may remain for two or three weeks, then slowly disappear, at which time the itching also stops.

While the rash may be found anywhere on the body, it is most common on the ankles, at the belt line, over the garter areas and under suspenders, and is heavier on the lower part of the body than on the upper. It may be mistaken for that due to hives or scabies.

Prevent Rash

There are several things which may be done to prevent the rash caused by chiggers. First of all, certain substances, known as repellents, may be put on the skin whenever a person expects to be in contact with vegetation where chiggers may be present, and, second, the skin should be washed thoroughly with soap and water after contact with such vegetation.

One of the best substances to repel chiggers is sulfur. A powder made up of sulfur, camphor, starch, and talc may be employed. In treating the condition, a mild antiseptic anti-itching preparation is employed. One made up of phenol, glycerine, and zinc oxide is often used. A treatment which we have found quite useful is to apply a mercuric antiseptic to the bite and then to cover it with collodion.

If the rash becomes infected with germs, an ointment containing bacitracin, one of the new antibiotics, is employed.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

E. F. S.: What causes an intense itching on the top of my feet with a fiery-red rash?

Answer: Without an examination, it is impossible to say what causes the eruption. Possible causes are ringworm infection or sensitivity to some chemical substance in your shoes or stockings.

When the cause is found, proper treatment may be carried out.

CHAPTER FORTY-FOUR
IVES TOLD Stoll, "You're in jail now, and you'll stay here until Benedict comes to turn the key."

Stoll lifted his hands and let them drop upon his knees. It was a shrug.
Ives said, "There's just one thing I've got to know. What profit was to be in it for you? There wasn't a red cent, so far as I can see. Was it just revenge?"

Stoll's face came to life. It showed hate. He said, "Can't you understand how it piled up as the years went by until it was bigger than a mountain?"

Ives shook his head; he could understand this, yet it was beyond his understanding; it was like sick tissue under a microscope, only it was a man's soul he was seeing. Ives said, "A bullet would have balanced up for any of the time across the years. But you would have had cattleman pitted against farmer half a hundred along; overhead the sky arched thing twenty-three years past!"

Stoll said, "And it was all going my way till you came back!"
Ives said, "If you knew how sickening you are!"

Stoll lifted his head; Stoll seemed to be listening, and then the awareness of danger was upon Ives like a blanket thrown over him. He remembered Charley's money, and he understood; he knew that Charley had been bribed to tell him that Stoll was here. He realized this just as the gun went off; the gun spoke beyond the cell window; the gun was out there in the weed-choked lot where once Stoll had stood. The gun and a second gun and a hoarse shout and a name said vilely, and the sound of a man falling.

Stoll was upon his feet; Stoll was reaching behind him, and a six-shooter lay on the cot—a six-shooter which Stoll had been sitting on. Stoll got this gun into his hand, and the lamp flickered with the concussion of his first shot. Ives felt the breath of the bullet; the lead drew splinters from the wall; but Ives was firing then; Ives was making the colonel's gun work, and Stoll folded over and fell into a heap upon the floor.

Boots were stampeding in Benedict's office, and Cory came lunging inside. Cory stood looking at Stoll's body, and Cory said, "I see it now. He was to be the bait to hold you while Brule got in a lick through the window. But their timing went wrong. I got back down the street to find Brule out there skulking around."

Ives looked toward the cell window; he looked out there where Brule had been.

"Dead," Cory said.
Ives let the colonel's gun slip from his fingers, and he put a hand to the wall, feeling very sick.

Ives said, "I've had enough for one day."

The nearest hospital stood empty.

Draft Law Change May Make Millions Available Expanded Draft Act by Next January Possibility

WASHINGTON—It depends on the length of the Korean war, but there is a good chance that Congress may broaden the draft law next January to make millions of additional men liable to military service.

Selective Service officials frankly admit that the present law would be inadequate if this country is committed to fighting on a large scale over a period of years.

If the war should continue into 1951, Congress might be willing to expand the draft act to provide for the induction of men in other age brackets. Current inductions are limited to youths 19 through 25.

However, even if the draft dragnet takes in men in their thirties, there is little likelihood that the initial calls would take in men of that age bracket who served in World War II.

For political and other reasons, any draft of veterans of the last war would be a last-resort action, after other sources of manpower fail to fulfill the needs of the armed services.

● CIVILIAN DEFENSE—Atomic experts hold out little consolation to persons counting on the shelter of huge buildings

"The inevitable conclusion is that the building should be abandoned in the event of an impending attack, or well before. The predictions for the AEC building are generally applicable to other government buildings in Washington."

For householders, the atomic experts had this to say. "Basements of homes would offer reasonable protection against distant detonations. However, care must be taken to provide escapes to be used in case the house above catches fire."

● TAXES AND KOREA—The sharp reverses suffered by American forces in Korea will compel congressional leaders, reluctant though they may be, to abandon adjournment plans. In consequence, Congress will be in session or on a temporary recess basis for the rest of the year to handle possible legislation.

There is an admitted possibility that the GIs will be driven out of Korea. In view of the United States commitment, this would require organization of a powerful force under the United Nations banners to retake the lost area. The result would be huge expense to do in Korea what was done on the European continent in the last war.

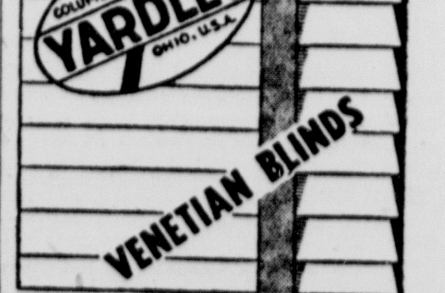

To finance what congressional leaders anticipate as a $5 to $10 billion step-up in military spending by January a tax increase of at least $5 billion more a year is expected in official circles.

This would wipe out to a large extent the 1948 tax reduction. Income taxes would be increased particularly on middle and upper income groups because of the relief granted them through the income-splitting feature of the 1948 law.

IN WRONG DIRECTION

WHATEVER line of reasoning the administration followed in attributing peaceful motives to Russia it seems to have led in the wrong direction.

What had been going on behind the iron curtain was either unknown to our intelligence department, or put off as meaningless. No one seems to have attached any importance to the fact that Russia was building tanks at the rate of 1,000 a month. That it had the largest fleet of modern submarines in history. That division after division of well trained and well armed men only awaited a call to action.

Apparently Washington was naive enough to believe Russia was doing all these things just for exercise. That fleets of submarines, the thousands of planes and tanks, the men in armed array, were just to look at or to be shown to visitors when there are no visitors. Washington seemed to have forgotten that Stalin, moved by greed and hatred for a free people, has his hopes set on conquering the United States as the last remaining strong foe of Communism.

Here at home the people have been kept complacent with sugar-tit gimmicks. If any citizen, more forthright than the average, warned of the perils of Russian aggression he was put down as a jingo and a warmonger.

Now we are faced with a situation for which we are ill prepared. We must find hope in the fact that America has never entered a war except from a standing start. But the time has come to forget politics and marshal the forces of America under the banner of patriotism.

MR. ROBESON'S PASSPORT

THERE will doubtless be outbursts from Communist and other leftwing source at the demand of the Department of State that Paul Robeson, native American and noted singer, surrender his passport. He has refused to give it up. The ground of the demand, according to the State Department spokesman, is that it would not be in the interest of the United States for Robeson to go abroad.

It is unlawful to leave the United States without a passport, other than for destinations in the Western Hemisphere.

Citizenship bestows no right to a passport. Issuance of a passport is at the discretion of the secretary of state. This discretion is considered inherent in his mandate to conduct foreign relations. If the secretary of state decides that it is not in the interest of the United States for a citizen to be granted a passport, there is no appeal. The discretion is absolute.

The State Department has not explained its reasons for wanting Robeson to surrender his passport. About three weeks ago, Robeson was the principal speaker at a meeting in Harlem at which he demanded "hands off Korea." That would appear to be the reason.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

As recently as July 26, the State Department issued a printed sheet, entitled "Views of the Department of State on Certain Questions Relating to China." This is a form used in reply to "numerous inquiries" received by the department concerning its attitude toward the seating of Soviet China in the United Nations.

The copy I have was issued one month after the Korean war was started, at one of the most devastating moments in our history when it seemed as though such a small country as Korea would push us into the Japan Sea. Apparently, the State Department is so aloof from the facts of life that it can ignore such matters.

This is what the form statement says: "United States representatives at the United Nations have been instructed to vote against motions which would deprive National government representatives of the seat which in our view they are entitled to occupy in the Security Council and in other United Nations organs. With respect to the Security Council, we do not believe that decisions on the seating of rival claimants seeking to represent a council member are subject to the veto. A decision of this nature relates to the organization and administration of the Security Council and is the type of decision which, under Article 27 of the charter, can be made by an affirmative vote of any seven members. Impossible consequences would arise from any other interpretation of the charter. If the veto were applicable to this type of decision, the representative of any permanent member of the council could perpetuate his position regardless of any changes in the government of his country. Moreover, a permanent member could indefinitely prevent the seating of representatives of non-permanent members of the council or any changes in the representation of a permanent member. The results of such an interpretation could be that the Security Council would not be able to function."

Then it adds this conclusion: "If a United Nation organ should vote, in accordance with its rules of procedure, to seat a Chinese Communist representative, we would accept the will of the majority and continue active participation in such organizations fulfilling in good faith our duties as a United Nations member. Such action on our part, would of course, not constitute recognition by this government of the Chinese Communist regime."

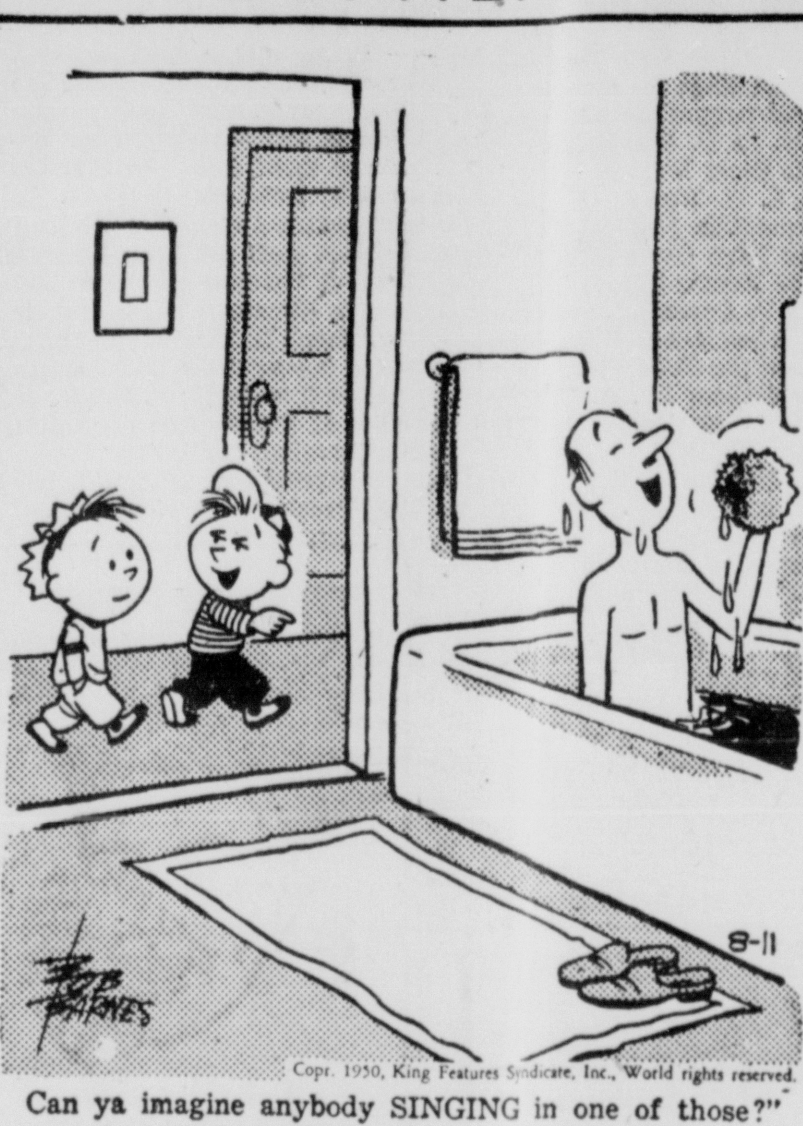

Shortly after this statement was mailed, General Douglas MacArthur went to Formosa to visit Chiang Kai-shek to arrange for cooperation between Formosa and our forces in Korea, undoubtedly to provide munitions for Nationalist China, and to aid in the pursuit of a war. Should Soviet China, which now has about 200,000 troops in Manchuria ready to strike at our forces in Korea, actually engage in this Korean war, Chiang's guerrilla efforts on the mainland must be of essential significance. Actually, Soviet China has been forced to deploy a large force to deal with Chiang.

Yet, the State Department continues to issue circulars as though there were no war; as though Malik had not named the United States the aggressor in the Korean war; as though our boys are not dying in battle. This is carrying routine beyond reason.

DIET AND HEALTH

Few Insect Bites Are More Troublesome Than Chiggers'

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

DURING the summer months when picnics and expeditions to the country are popular, parents are always faced with the problem of insect bites. Few of these can be more troublesome than those caused by chiggers.

Most people believe that these little pests are confined to the southern states but, as a matter of fact, they occur in all parts of the country and anyone is likely to become infested with them who has much contact with underbrush or low-growing vegetation. It is true, however, that women and children have more trouble from them than do men.

Tiny Parasite

The technical name for chiggers is Trombicula, a tiny parasite which is present in great numbers on wild-growing plants and vines.

When the parasites get on the skin, they move about until they reach a place where the clothing presses and there they attach themselves to obtain nourishment, at the same time depositing a secretion. It is this secretion which causes the rash. It does not appear, however, until the following day, by which time the parasites themselves have usually dropped off.

At first, the rash may be made up of red spots, pimples, or blisters. There is a great deal of itching, which, of course, leads to scratching, and often infection of the skin with germs. In the end, the rash changes to hard, slightly-raised pimples which are bright red in color. These may remain for two or three weeks, then slowly disappear, at which time the itching also stops.

While the rash may be found anywhere on the body, it is most common on the ankles, at the belt line, over the garter areas and under suspenders, and is heavier on the lower part of the body than on the upper. It may be mistaken for that due to hives or scabies.

Prevent Rash

There are several things which may be done to prevent the rash caused by chiggers. First of all, certain substances, known as repellents, may be put on the skin whenever a person expects to be in contact with vegetation where chiggers may be present, and, second, the skin should be washed thoroughly with soap and water after contact with such vegetation.

One of the best substances to repel chiggers is sulfur. A powder made up of sulfur, camphor, starch, and talc may be employed.

In treating the condition, a mild antiseptic anti-itching preparation is employed. One made up of phenol, glycerine, and zinc oxide is often used. A treatment which we have found quite useful is to apply a mercuric iodine to the bite and then to cover it with collodion.

If the rash becomes infected with germs, an ointment containing bacitracin, one of the new antibiotics, is employed.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

E. F. S.: What causes an intense itching on the top of my feet with a fiery-red rash?

Answer: Without an examination, it is impossible to say what causes the eruption. Possible causes are ringworm infection or sensitivity to some chemical substance in your shoes or stockings. When the cause is found, proper treatment may be carried out.

CHAPTER FORTY-FOUR

IVES TOLD Stoll, "You're in jail now, and you'll stay there until Benedict comes to turn the key."

Stoll lifted his hands and let them drop upon his knees. It was a shrug.

Ives said, "There's just one thing I've got to know. What profit was to be in it for you? There wasn't a red cent, so far as I can see. Was it just revenge?"

Stoll's face came to life. It showed hate. He said, "Can't you understand how it piled up as the years went by until it was bigger than a mountain?"

Ives shook his head; he could understand this, yet it was beyond his understanding; it was like sick tissue under a microscope, only it was a man's soul he was seeing. Ives said, "A bullet would have balanced up for you any of the time across the years. But you would have had cattleman pitted against farmer and half a hundred of them dead. All because of something twenty-three years past!"

Stoll said, "And it was all going my way till you came back!"

Ives said, "If you knew how sickening you are!"

Stoll lifted his head; Stoll seemed to be listening, and then the awareness of danger was upon Ives like a blanket thrown over him. He remembered Charley's money, and he understood; and then he remembered Charley had been bribed to tell him that Stoll was here. He realized this just as the gun went off; the gun spoke beyond the cell window; the gun was out there in the weed-choked lot where once Stoll had stood. The gun and a second gun and a hoarse shout and a name said vilely, and the sound of a man falling.

Stoll was upon his feet; Stoll was reaching behind him, and a six-shooter lay on the cot—a six-shooter which Stoll had been sitting upon. Stoll got this gun into his hand, and the lamp flickered with the concussion of his first shot. Ives felt the breath of the bullet; the lead drew splinters from the wall; but Ives was firing then; Ives was making the colonel's gun work, and Stoll folded over and fell into a heap upon the floor.

Boots were stampeding in Benedict's office, and Cory came lunging inside. Cory stood looking at Stoll's body, and Cory said, "I see it now. He was to be the bait to hold you while Brule got in a lick through the window. But their timing went wrong. I got back down the street to find Brule out there skulking around."

Ives looked toward the cell window; he looked out there where Brule had been.

"Dead," Cory said.

Ives let the colonel's gun slip from his fingers, and he put a hand to the wall, feeling very sick. Ives said, "I've had enough for one day."

The nestler himself stood empty.

Draft Law Change May Make Millions Available | Expanded Draft Act by Next January Possibility

Special to Central Press

WASHINGTON—It depends on the length of the Korean war, but there is a good chance that Congress may broaden the draft law next January to make millions of additional men liable to military service.

Selective Service officials frankly admit that the present law would be inadequate if this country is committed to fighting on a large scale over a period of years.

If the war should continue into 1951, Congress might be willing to expand the draft act to provide for the induction of men in other age brackets. Current inductions are limited to youths 19 through 25.

Picnic In Park Here

Long Service
Brings Award

C. O. Leist, for 27 years superintendent of Calvary Evangelical United Brethren church, received a gift in appreciation of his years of service as the highlight of a Sunday School picnic in Ted Lewis Park Wednesday.

The Rev. James A. Herbst made the presentation remarks when he handed Leist a pen and pencil set and expressed praise for the years of faithful service given the Sunday school during his long term of office.

The picnic began at 3:30 p. m. when Sunday school youngsters were transported from the church to the park for their games. Main feature of the children's events was the wishing well where each child fished for a toy.

Adult games in the afternoon consisted of baseball and horseshoes.

High scorers in the series of games that followed the basket picnic at 6:30 p. m. were Mrs. J. L. Shasteen and Richard Blaney. Games included a sack race, a broom relay, clothes pins in milk bottle, paper plates in bushel basket and a candy sucker contest. Mrs. Shasteen received for her award a pinup lamp; Blaney, a fishing tackle bag.

On the transportation committee were Nelson Lape, Harry Lutz and Manley Carothers; on the games committee, Mrs. John Anderson, Miss Evelyn Turner, Mrs. W. C. Shasteen and Mrs. Dwight Wilson; on the food committee, Miss Jennie Dean and Mrs. C. J. Martin.

Corn Roast

Mr. and Mrs. James Pierce of Circleville Route 4 used two methods of cooking corn at their corn roast Thursday evening. The old fashioned way of dropping corn in a kettle of boiling water proved speedier than the modern method of wrapping the ears in aluminum foil and placing in the ashes, according to one of the guests.

Present for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Hedges, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Hinton, children, Jimmy, Gary, Judy, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Perdon, Ann Elizabeth and Janice Sue, Mr. and Mrs. George Gerhardt and Marsha and Bess Morgan.

3 More Mimosas
Growing Here

Mrs. D. E. Pickens of Watt street is not the only person in Circleville who can grow tropical Mimosas trees in her back yard. There are at least three other Mimosas in the vicinity.

What is more, they were all started by Mrs. O. K. Heise of East Mound street from seed sent by her son-in-law, Dr. Joe Goeller when he was stationed in Camp Wheeler, Ga.

Two of the three Mimosas trees grown by Mrs. Heise bloomed this season. One in the backyard of Mrs. Vernon Weller, formerly the residence of Dr. Joe Goeller, is "garage high." The others are thriving in the Ohio climate.

C. O. Leist Is Honored At Calvary EUB Church Picnic In Park Here

Long Service Brings Award

C. O. Leist, for 27 years superintendent of Calvary Evangelical United Brethren church, received a gift in appreciation of his years of service as the highlight of a Sunday School picnic in Ted Lewis Park Wednesday.

The Rev. James A. Herbst made the presentation remarks when he handed Leist a pen and pencil set and expressed praise for the years of faithful service given the Sunday school during his long term of office.

The picnic began at 3:30 p. m. when Sunday school youngsters were transported from the church to the park for their games. Main feature of the children's events was the wishing well where each child fished for a toy.

Adult games in the afternoon consisted of baseball and horseshoes.

High scorers in the series of games that followed the basket picnic at 6:30 p. m. were Mrs. J. L. Shasteen and Richard Blaney. Games included a sack race, a broom relay, clothes pins in milk bottle, paper plates in bushel basket and a candy sucker contest. Mrs. Shasteen received for her award a pinup lamp; Blaney, a fishing tackle box.

On the transportation committee were Nelson Lape, Harry Lutz and Manley Carothers; on the games committee, Mrs. John Anderson, Miss Evelyn Turner, Mrs. W. C. Shasteen and Mrs. Dwight Wilson; on the food committee, Miss Jennie Dean and Mrs. C. J. Martin.

WSWS Group Meets Here

The Misses Daisy and Viola Woollever of 325 Watt street were hostesses to Women's Society World Service of First Evangelical United Brethren church Thursday evening in their home.

Mrs. Clarence Radcliff, program leader, used as her theme "The Press on in a Fellowship of Women Horizons Through Literacy and Literature." Taking part were Mrs. Ed Millrons, Mrs. C. F. Zwicker, Mrs. Frank Hawkes, Mrs. Paul Dawson, Mrs. C. O. Kerns and Miss Lucille Kirkwood.

The Misses Woollever were assisted during the refreshment hour by Mrs. E. S. Neuding and Mrs. Carl L. Wilson.

40th Wedding Date Observed

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Peters were honored guests at a surprise dinner party given in observance of their 40th wedding anniversary by their children. Mr. and Mrs. Loring Valentine entertained the group in their country home on Circleville Route 4 to which they have recently moved.

Taking part in the surprise were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Peters Jr. and family, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Conrad and family, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Richard and family, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Purcell and family, Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Rinehart and family, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Cozad and family, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Thompson and family and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Musselman and family.

Pierces Stage Corn Roast

Mr. and Mrs. James Pierce of Circleville Route 4 used two methods of cooking corn at their corn roast Thursday evening. The old fashioned way of dropping water in a kettle of boiling water proved speedier than the modern method of wrapping the ears in aluminum foil and placing in the ashes, according to one of the guests.

Present for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Hedges, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Hinton, children, Jimmy, Gary, Judy, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Perdion, Ann Elizabeth and Janice Sue, Mr. and Mrs. George Gerhardt and Marsha and Bess Morgan.

3 More Mimosas Growing Here

Mrs. D. E. Pickens of Watt street is not the only person in Circleville who can grow tropical Mimosas trees in her back yard. There are at least three other Mimosas in the vicinity.

What is more, they were all started by Mrs. O. K. Heise of East Mound street from seed sent by her son-in-law, Dr. Joe Goeller when he was stationed in Camp Wheeler, Ga.

Two of the three Mimosas trees grown by Mrs. Heise bloomed this season. One in the backyard of Mrs. Vernon Weiler, formerly the residence of Dr. Joe Goeller, is "garage high." The others are thriving in the Ohio climate.

On their return trip they spent a day in Lake Success, visited United Nations headquarters, buildings and assembly room and lunched in the general cafeteria.

Mrs. Hazel Hosler of Coshocton will spend the week with her nieces and nephew, the Misses Doris and Bernice Allen and John Allen of Kingston Route 1. She plans to visit Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Durant of Laurelvale also before she leaves for Madison, Wis., where she will visit in the home of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Hosler for the winter.

Program and business were conducted in the church before the hayride. Judy Fosnaugh was in charge of the discussion, "How to be Happy." The Beatitudes were read by the entire group. Singing included the hymn, "Fair Lord Jesus."

Thirty members and guests were present for the hayride.

A PICKAWAY COUNTIAN

IN DENMARK

BY BETTY JEAN RIDDLE

We have been having beautiful weather here for the last week—sunshine all day and a full moon at night.

Folks here are expecting a change because barley-cutting has started. They tell me that during August it ceases to rain—it pours.

I've already made plans to hire a boat because if the rain the last month is any indication, the only thing on this island that will show is the tops of trees.

Jens has gone to bed for four hours sleep. He and some other men are going north to observe the opening of duck-hunting season. Maybe we will have a "squawker" tomorrow for dinner. At least, we will find out who is the smarter—man or fowl.

Tomorrow, we are having more visitors at the farm. These are from Germany. We had some men last week from Germany and they all wore leather boots and green hats.

When they had gone, Annagrete asked Tina: "Why did all those men have on green hats?" That is the $64 question.

When they start cutting barley here, it means a harvest season of about six weeks. This is due to the large amount of rain I mentioned earlier.

BARLEY HERE is cut with a binder with no bundle carriage and in five-foot-swaths.

Our farm is fortunate enough to have a tractor, but the man next door is cutting with three horses.

After barley is shocked, they take a trip rake and go over the field to get all that is missed. They then go over the field again—this time picking up by hand.

There are nine strips of barley here—a total of about 30 acres. All fields are divided so that they may have six different crops—following sometimes a ten-year rotation.

Barley is left in the shock for 10 to 14 days and then brought to the barn and run through a separator. They hire only one extra man and do not use a threshing ring as we do at home.

There is no argument about who rides the tractor and binder.

The "first man" has the seat of authority on the binder. The "first man" means the oldest and the one who keeps the records for the farm.

The youngest drives the tractor.

tor and the "middle" man walks and shocks.

However, Jens does little else than drive the tractor to open up a field. This is because not all farmers here are as prosperous as Jens. He is noted for using his brain rather than his brawn. And he makes money.

All of the boys who work here, although they are paid wages, are here for training. They all come from farms and our "first man" comes from a farm larger than this one.

IN THEIR places at home, their fathers hire other men. It proves a good way to get new ideas and also relieves the tension between father and son when Dad's patience gives out or Junior insists on trying something new.

I have something new for you cooks to try in the kitchen using buttermilk.

This is a dessert and very good, especially for those of you who like to "dump" things together.

That is what they do here. They use approximately two quarts of buttermilk and add sugar to taste. Grate the rind of three-fourths of a lemon in the mixture. Add a pint of whipped cream.

All this is mixed together and gelatin added.

This is poured into a ring mold and allowed to set.

It is served with red cherry sauce with whole cherries in it. It is good to serve at parties or after a big dinner because it is not too rich.

Caution: don't let the buttermilk scare you; the lemon eases its flavor.

I am to leave this part of the country soon.

This is the oldest and most beautiful part of Denmark and it looks pretty nice to me.

If things go according to schedule, I shall be writing next to you from Oslo, Norway, and I will try and compare the two countries of Norway and Denmark for you.

An average 100 fiction books are printed in the United States each month.

Urbana Angus Sale Sets New National Mark

URBANA, Aug. 11—Effects of increased prices in the meat industry today have the support of new records set by the Ohio Aberdeen-Angus Sale here where a new state auction high of $29,560 has been set.

The auction averages last night broke records of all previous state Aberdeen-Angus sales in the nation. The top sale price in the bidding of 45 animals was $2,025. The average sale price of $657 was $17 ahead of the average set at other state sales in the country.

Eight bulls sold for an average of $586 and the average sale price of 37 cows was $672. The pace for the sales was set by the auctioning of the grand champion heifer for $1200. Sold by William L. Poling and Sons of Van Wert, the prize animal went to Joe Lyon of Memphis, Tenn.

William Winslow of Rushville, Ind., was the victor in a lively bidding contest for a cow consigned by Poling and Sons. He ended up paying the top sale price of $2,025.

The grand champion bull, consigned by Florence L. Heberding of Canfield, brought $1,100 from E. H. Eyrich of Mason.

For the first imported female Angus ever to be sold at a state sale in America, Wayne Knolls Farms of Marshalltown paid $1,400. The consignment was from Paul L. Nelson and Sons of Spring Valley and the sale included a heifer calf.

Indian Hills Farms of Cincinnati made three purchases worth a total of $2,060. Turkana Farms of East Liverpool bought three animals worth $3,250.

Tighter Liquor Ruling Sought

COLUMBUS, Aug. 11—Ohio's organized retail liquor dealers want the state to make it a penitentiary offense to sell alcoholic beverages without a permit.

Norman C. Parr, executive secretary of the Buckeye Retail Liquor Dealers Association, said the members desired stiffer penalties due to an increase in sales in "fly-by-night spots." Under present Ohio law, violators are charged with a misdemeanor.

EZRA INTERPRETED GOD'S WORD

HE READ AND EXPLAINED THE LAW TO ISRAELITES

Scripture—Ezra 7; 8:15-56; Nehemiah 8-9.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

IN THE reigns of King Cyrus and, later, Darius, some of the Israelites in exile were allowed to go home, on condition that they would rebuild the temple. They had done so, the first temple being built in the reign of Cyrus, the second when Darius was on the throne.

At the time our story opens, Artaxerxes I was the Persian ruler. He too was sympathetic to his Jewish subjects. After more than 60 years in exile they had strayed from their own laws. The priests as well as the people, were inter-marrying with the heathen; the upper classes were oppressing the poor, and the people generally were not paying their tithes.

Then came Ezra, "a ready scribe in the law of Moses." King Artaxerxes readily granted his request that he go to Jerusalem, because Ezra "had prepared his heart to seek the law of the Lord, and to do it, and to teach in Israel statutes and judgments."

Indeed, the king gave Ezra a letter in which he decreed that "all they of the people of Israel, and of his priests and Levites, in my realm, which are minded of their own free will to go up to Jerusalem, go with thee."

Not only did the king decree that they might go freely, but he further stated that they were to take with them the gold and silver vessels belonging to the temple, and money from free-will offerings that they might buy livestock for sacrifice.

There surely was danger that they might be robbed of their rich burdens on the way to Jerusalem, and they felt some misgivings at first, but a fast was ordered and they prayed for God's protection. For, said Ezra, "I was ashamed to require of the king a band of soldiers and horsemen to help us against the enemy in the way: because we had spoken unto the king, saying, The hand of our God is upon all them for good that seek Him."

They came safely to Jerusalem, where Ezra applied himself to the study of the laws given Moses by God. When he was ready, the books arranged, "all the people gathered themselves together as one man in the street that was before the water gate; and they spake unto Ezra the scribe to bring the book of the law of Moses, which the Lord had commanded to Israel."

So Ezra the scribe "stood upon a pulpit of wood, which they had made for the purpose," and beside him stood his assistants, some on his right hand and some on his left.

"And Ezra opened the book in the sight of all the people; (for he was above all the people;) and when he opened it, all the people stood up.

"And Ezra blessed the Lord, the great God. And all the people answered, Amen, Amen, with lifting up their hands; and they bowed their heads, and worshipped the Lord with their faces to the ground."

They read the law of God distinctly, and caused the people to understand the reading.

"And Nehemiah, which is the Tirshatha, and Ezra the priest and scribe, and the Levites, that taught the people, said unto all the people, This day is holy unto the Lord, your God; mourn not, nor weep. For all the people wept, when they heard the words of the law.

"Then he said unto them, Go your way, eat the fat, and drink the sweet, and send portions unto them for whom nothing is prepared: for this day is holy unto our Lord: neither be ye sorry; for the joy of the Lord is your strength."

Then they read in the law that the people should dwell in booths so the people made booths and sat in them. "And there was very great gladness."

The ninth chapter of Nehemiah tells of the people sitting in sackcloth with earth upon them, repenting their sins. "And they stood up in their place, and read in the book of the Lord their God one-fourth part of the day; and another fourth part they confessed, and worshipped the Lord their God."

The rest of this chapter is taken up by Ezra's prayer—a beautiful petition, reviewing all the blessings of God to His people; confessing that they had failed to obey Him time and again, but always the Lord had forgiven them.

EZRA INTERPRETED GOD'S WORD

HE READ AND EXPLAINED THE LAW TO ISRAELITES

Scripture—Ezra 7; 8:15-36; Nehemiah 8-9.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

IN THE reigns of King Cyrus and, later, Darius, some of the Israelites in exile were allowed to go home, on condition that they would rebuild the temple. They had done so, the first temple being built in the reign of Cyrus, the second when Darius was on the throne.

At the time our story opens, Artaxerxes I was the Persian ruler. He too was sympathetic to his Jewish subjects. After more than 60 years in exile they had strayed from their own laws. The priests as well as the people, were inter-marrying with the heathen; the upper classes were oppressing the poor, and the people generally were not paying their tithes.

Then came Ezra, "a ready scribe in the law of Moses." King Artaxerxes readily granted his request that he go to Jerusalem, because Ezra "had prepared his heart to seek the law of the Lord, and to do it, and to teach in Israel statutes and judgments."

Indeed, the king gave Ezra a letter in which he decreed that "all they of the people of Israel, and of the priests and Levites, in my realm, which are minded of their own free will to go up to Jerusalem, go with thee."

Not only did the king decree that they might go freely, but he further stated that they were to take with them the gold and silver vessels belonging to the temple, and money from free-will offerings that they might buy livestock for sacrifice.

There surely was danger that they might be robbed of their rich burdens on the way to Jerusalem, and they felt some misgivings at first, but a fast was ordered and they prayed for God's protection. For, said Ezra, "I was ashamed to require of the king a band of soldiers and horsemen to help us against the enemy in the way; because we had spoken unto the king, saying, The hand of our God is upon all them for good that seek Him."

They came safely to Jerusalem, where Ezra applied himself to the study of the laws given Moses by God. When he was ready, the books arranged, "all the people gathered themselves together as one man in the street that was before the water gate; and they spake unto Ezra the scribe to bring the book of the law of Moses, which the Lord had commanded to Israel."

So Ezra the scribe "stood upon a pulpit of wood, which they had made for the purpose," and beside him stood his assistants, some on his right hand and some on his left.

"And Ezra opened the book in the sight of all the people; (for he was above all the people;) and when he opened it, all the people stood up."

"And Ezra blessed the Lord, the great God. And all the people answered, Amen, Amen, with lifting up their hands; and they bowed their heads, and worshipped the Lord with their faces to the ground."

They read the law of God distinctly, and caused the people to understand the reading.

"And Nehemiah, which is the Tirshatha, and Ezra the priest and scribe, and the Levites, that taught the people, said unto all the people, This day is holy unto the Lord, your God; mourn not, nor weep. For all the people wept, when they heard the words of the law."

Then he said unto them, Go your way, eat the fat, and drink the sweet, and send portions unto them for whom nothing is prepared: for this day is holy unto our Lord: neither be ye sorry; for the joy of the Lord is your strength."

Then they read in the law that the people should dwell in booths so the people made booths and sat in them. "And there was very great gladness."

The ninth chapter of Nehemiah tells of the people sitting in sackcloth with earth upon them, repenting their sins. "And they stood up in their place, and read in the book of the Lord their God one-fourth part of the day; and another fourth part they confessed, and worshipped the Lord their God."

The rest of this chapter is taken up by Ezra's prayer—a beautiful petition, reviewing all the blessings of God to His people; confessing that they had failed to obey Him time and again, but always the Lord had forgiven them.

A PICKAWAY COUNTIAN

IN DENMARK

BY BETTY JEAN RIDDLE

We have been having beautiful weather here for the last week—sunshine all day and a full moon at night.

Folks here are expecting a change because barley-cutting has started. They tell me that during August it ceases to rain—it pours.

I've already made plans to hire a boat because if the rain the last month is any indication, the only thing on this island that will show is the tops of trees.

Jens has gone to bed for four hours sleep. He and some other men are going north to observe the opening of duck-hunting season. Maybe we will have a "squawker" tomorrow for dinner. At least, we will find out who is the smarter—man or fowl.

Tomorrow, we are having more visitors at the farm. These are from Germany. We had some men last week from Germany and they all wore leather boots and green hats.

When they had gone, Annagrete asked Tina: "Why did all those men have on green hats?" That is the $64 question.

When they start cutting barley here, it means a harvest season of about six weeks. This is due to the large amount of rain I mentioned earlier.

BARLEY HERE is cut with a binder who no bundle carriage and in five-foot-swaths.

Our farm is fortunate enough to have a tractor, but the man next door is cutting with three horses.

After barley is shocked, they take a trip rake and go over the field to get all that is missed. They then go over the field again—this time picking up by hand.

There are nine strips of barley here—a total of about 30 acres. All fields are divided so that they may have six different crops—following sometimes a ten-year rotation.

Barley is left in the shock for 10 to 14 days and then brought to the barn and run through a separator. They hire only one extra man and do not use a threshing ring as we do at home.

There is no argument about who rides the tractor and binder.

The "first man" has the seat of authority on the binder. The "first man" means the oldest and the one who keeps the records for the farm.

The youngest drives the tractor and the "middle" man walks and shocks.

However, Jens does little else than drive the tractor to open up a field. This is because not all farmers here are as prosperous as Jens. He is noted for using his brain rather than his brawn. And he makes money.

All of the boys who work here, although they are paid wages, are here for training. They all come from farms and our "first man" comes from a farm larger than this one.

IN THEIR places at home, their fathers hire other men. It proves a good way to get new ideas and also relieves the tension between father and son when Dad's patience gives out or Junior insists on trying something new.

I have something new for you cooks to try in the kitchen using buttermilk.

This is a dessert and very good, especially for those of you who like to "dump" things together.

That is what they do here. They use approximately two quarts of buttermilk and add sugar to taste. Grate the rind of three-fourths of a lemon in the mixture. Add a pint of whipped cream.

All this is mixed together and gelatin added.

This is poured into a ring mold and allowed to set.

It is served with red cherry sauce with whole cherries in it. It is good to serve at parties or after a big dinner because it is not too rich.

Caution: don't let the buttermilk scare you; the lemon eases its flavor.

I am to leave this part of the country soon.

This is the oldest and most beautiful part of Denmark and it looks pretty nice to me.

If things go according to schedule, I shall be writing next to you from Oslo, Norway, and I will try and compare the two countries of Norway and Denmark for you.

An average 100 fiction books are printed in the United States each month.

Urbana Angus Sale Sets New National Mark

URBANA, Aug. 11—Effects of increased prices in the meat industry today have the support of new records set by the Ohio Aberdeen-Angus Sale here where a new state auction high of $29,560 has been set.

The auction averages last night broke records of all previous state Aberdeen-Angus sales in the nation. The top sale price in the bidding of 45 animals was $2,025. The average sale price of $657 was $17 ahead of the average set at other state sales in the country.

Eight bulls sold for an average of $536 and the average sale price of 37 cows was $672.

The pace for the sales was set by the auctioning of the grand champion heifer for $1200. Sold by William L. Poling and Sons of Van Wert, the prize animal went to Joe Lyon of Memphis, Tenn.

William Winship of Rushville, Ind., was the victor in a lively bidding contest for a cow consigned by Poling and Sons. He ended up paying the top sale price of $2,025.

The grand champion bull, consigned by Florence L. Heberding of Canfield, brought $1,100 from E. H. Eyrich of Mason.

For the first imported female Angus ever to be sold at a state sale in America, Wayne Knolls Farms of Marshalltown paid $1,400. The consignment was from Paul L. Nelson and Sons of Paul Valley and the sale included a heifer calf.

Indian Hills Farms of Cincinnati made three purchases worth a total of $2,060. Turkana Farms of East Liverpool bought three animals worth $3,250.

TERMITES. Cause damage in excess of fifty million dollars annually for REPAIRS alone. These destructive pests work in secret and may be destroying your property NOW. Have it inspected by an expert and be sure. There is no your property is not infested they charge for the inspection, and if will tell you so. If termites are present you will be SHOWN and a fair price quoted for a treatment which is guaranteed for TEN YEARS.

Many irresponsible amateurs—self-styled "exterminators" and "part time" entomologists offer fantastic "guarantees" and bargain prices, but you owe it to yourself to be SURE you are securing the services of a thoroughly reliable and FINANCIALLY RESPONSIBLE company whose guarantee really has a meaning.

An effective termite treatment must not only eliminate the termites now present in the structure, but also prevent the countless thousands of others, who live in the GROUND outside the house, from returning.

The almost unbelievable cunning of the termite makes the successful treatment of your property a job for those who have the proper equipment and the KNOW HOW. Further, because of the termites tenacity and persistence it is sometimes impossible to completely exterminate them with ONE treatment.

Therefore it is vital that the company doing the job be AVAILABLE later to return if necessary. Unless you are SURE of this fact you may find yourself with a "Guarantee" but no one STILL IN BUSINESS to MAKE GOOD.

Always remember—a guarantee is only as good as the man who gives it.

We are local representatives of a reputable and FINANCIALLY RESPONSIBLE company who are ACCREDITED MEMBERS OF THE OHIO PEST CONTROL ASSOCIATION.

Collegians Underdogs In Star Tilt

Eagles Given 14 1/2 Point Advantage

CHICAGO, Aug. 11—The College All-Stars, grid graduates of 1949, and the Philadelphia Eagles, National Pro League champions of '49 and '50, inaugurate the new football season tonight in Chicago's Soldier Field.

The Eagles, 38 to 0 conquerors of the All-Stars last year, were 14 1/2 point favorites going into the contest, expected to be witnessed by 90,000 fans.

Leading them into the 17th annual game will be the nestful of stars who sparked them to consecutive league titles—Quarterback and Ace Passer Tommy Thompson, Steve Van Buren, one of the game's greatest running backs, and Pete Pihos, ex-Indiana end and often a target of Thompson's aerials.

The All-Stars, downed by a record count in '49, may make more of a fight of it this year. Observers expect their effort to be helped by the reduction of the squad from 70 to 50 and pre-game training in Delafield, Wis., instead of in neighboring Evanston, Ill., where they sometimes were distracted by social activities.

There are other factors. The college line men are the heaviest in the history of the game and size does not limit their agility. Among them are Co-Captain Clayton Tonnemaker, Minnesota center; Leo Nomellini, a giant Minnesota tackle; Carl Kilsgaard of Idaho, Lou Creekmur of William and Mary,

Ashville Reds To Meet Old 'Jinx' Sunday

Ashville Reds baseball team will meet its "jinx" team Sunday in Community Park. The "jinx" is the Woods Plumbers, a low-ranking team in the Heart of Ohio League which handed the Ashvillers their first loss of the season during the first round of play.

Ashville to date holds a stranglehold on the leadership of the HOL league with a perfect record, maintaining a half game advantage over Chillicothe Meades.

Bill Schmitter, Scioto Township high school coach, probably will start on the mound for the Reds. Gametime is set for about 2:30 p. m. Sunday.

John Sandusky of Villanova, and Don Winslow of Iowa.

The ends are such well remembered names from last Autumn's sports pages as Art Weininger of North Carolina, Jim Owens of Oklahoma, Tom Rowe of Dartmouth, Junior Ison of Baylor and Jim Martin and Bill Wightkin of Notre Dame.

Travis Tidwell, the Auburn triple-threat, probably will lead off at quarterback for the Collegians. As subs Coach Eddie Anderson may call on Ad Burk of Baylor or Eddie Lebaron of College of the Pacific.

Running with Tidwell in the backfield will be Charley Justice, the North Carolina "Choo Choo," Doak Walker, co-captain and everybody's All-American from Southern Methodist, Oregon State's Ken Carpenter, Fred Morrison, Ohio State fullback who starred in the last Rose Bowl game, Lynn Chandross of Michigan State, and Larry Coutre of Notre Dame.

Fishermen Crowd Scioto's Banks As 'River Bass' Season Opens

The annual pilgrimage to the banks of the Scioto River by Circleville fishermen in search of "whoppers" got underway this week.

A host of fishermen crowded along the banks of the river just south of Main street bridge Thursday to try their luck.

And their luck was good, too, as they hauled out quite a few fair sized "river bass" from the dun-colored water.

Of course, luck was not as good as "a few nights ago, when a guy caught a 22 1/2 pounder here."

The reason for the assortment of railroad spikes, iron washers and any other heavy scraps used for sinkers plunging into the river is the annual run of carp behind the Esmeralda Canning

Co., which spills its waste corn into the stream.

WATERS IN the area teem with carp which apparently drift into the area from all parts of the river to gorge themselves on the free corn picnic.

Veterans of the art claimed Thursday that the night before was "the best so far," although several seven and eight pounders were caught later Thursday.

One tale making the rounds along the banks is that a man snagged into one of the big ones too tough to handle the other day and lost a good portion of his line on the fish.

A friend of the luckless angler, so the story goes, dragged out a fish shortly afterwards and gave the man back his hooks, line and sink-

Old Rivalry To Burn Anew In Battle Sunday

Circleville Merchants baseball team will have to best its keenest rivals Sunday to remain tied for second place in Tri-County League standings.

Stoutsville is to invade the Merchants in Ted Lewis Park at 2:30 p. m. Sunday, completing the second half of a rivalry match which began in June.

During the first meeting of the teams June 4 in Stoutsville, the er, which was dangling from the mouth of the fish.

If fishing behind the corn factory does nothing else, all of the eager Waltons are given a chance to store up a few polished yarns for the grand season after the rods are put back into moth-balls.

Stoutsvillers outlasted the locals to score an 11-10 victory in 10 innings of play.

Circleville has advanced to near the top in league standings since then with a record of eight wins in 11 starts, while the Stoutsville team has halved its season with five wins in 10 starts.

THE LOCAL aggregation is tied for second place in the league with Lancaster.

Pleasantville, seemingly docile enough previously in the league, has zoomed up into first place in the loop by virtue of claiming a game which apparently was misplaced early in the season. The Pleasantville team holds a half game advantage with a record of nine wins in 12 starts.

First Gridiron Games Booked By Pro Teams

NEW YORK, Aug. 11—For the first time in history teams of the National Football League meet those of the defunct All-America Conference beginning tomorrow.

The two leagues were merged into one big family last December, and tomorrow's games may laughingly be referred to as a test of strength.

The Cleveland Browns, four times AAC champions, take on the Green Bay Packers, also-rans last year in the NFL's western division. This "struggle" comes off in Toledo as one of the record-breaking number of pre-season exhibitions scheduled by National Football League President Bert Bell.

Other previews pit the New York Giants against the Ottawa Football Club in Canada tomorrow and the Chicago Bears against the New York Yanks in Omaha. The Baltimore Colts and Pittsburgh Steelers meet Sunday in Baltimore.

Most of the immediate attention will be focused on Soldier's Field in Chicago tonight where the Champion Philadelphia Eagles play the College All-Stars.

Altogether, the 13-club NFL has mapped 36 pre-season exhibitions. Last year 27 exhibitions were played.

Shady Hanover Cops Feature

WESTBURY, N. Y., Aug. 11—Shady Hanover won the featured Jones Beach Pace at Roosevelt Raceway last night, eking out a half-length victory in 2:05-2-5 over Windy Scratton and Josedale Dandy.

However, Windy Scratton interfered with Dark Chief, and the judges disqualified the former to give Josedale Dandy second, with Chief taking third.

Jimmy Jordan drove the winner to his seventh victory in thirteen starts this season. The favorite, Shady Hanover, is owned by Cleo A. Young of Timmonsville, S. C.

Collegians Underdogs In Star Tilt

Eagles Given 14½ Point Advantage

CHICAGO, Aug. 11—The College All-Stars, grid graduates of 1949, and the Philadelphia Eagles, National Pro League champions of '49 and '50, inaugurate the new football season tonight in Chicago's Soldier Field.

The Eagles, 38 to 0 conquerors of the All-Stars last year, were 14½ point favorites going into the contest, expected to be witnessed by 90,000 fans.

Leading them into the 17th annual game will be the nestful of stars who sparked them to consecutive league titles—Quarterback and Ace Passer Tommy Thompson, Steve Van Buren, one of the game's greatest running backs, and Pete Pihos, ex-Indiana end and often a target of Thompson's aerials.

The All-Stars, downed by a record count in '49, may make more of a fight of it this year. Observers expect their effort to be helped by the reduction of the squad from 70 to 50 and pre-game training in Delafield, Wis., instead of in neighboring Evanston, Ill., where they sometimes were distracted by social activities.

THERE ARE OTHER factors. The college line men are the heaviest in the history of the game and size does not limit their agility. Among them are Co-Captain Clayton Tonnemaker, Minnesota center; Leo Nomellini, a giant Minnesota tackle; Carl Kilsaard of Idaho, Lou Creekmur of William and Mary,

Ashville Reds To Meet Old 'Jinx' Sunday

Ashville Reds baseball team will meet its "jinx" team Sunday in Community Park. The "jinx" is the Woods Plumbers, a low-ranking team in the Heart of Ohio League which handed the Ashvillers their first loss of the season during the first round of play.

Ashville to date holds a stranglehold on the leadership of the HOL league with a perfect record, maintaining a half game advantage over Chillicothe Meades.

Bill Schmitter, Scioto Township high school coach, probably will start on the mound for the Reds. Gametime is set for about 2:30 p. m. Sunday.

John Sandusky of Villanova, and Don Winslow of Iowa.

The ends are such well remembered names from last Autumn's sports pages as Art Weiner of North Carolina, Jim Owens of Oklahoma, Tom Rowe of Dartmouth, Junior Ison of Baylor and Jim Martin and Bill Wightkin of Notre Dame.

Travis Tidwell, the Auburn triple-threat, probably will lead off at quarterback for the Collegians. As sub Coach Eddie Anderson may call on Ad Burk of Baylor or Eddie Lebaron of College of the Pacific.

Running with Tidwell in the backfield will be Charley Justice, the North Carolina "Choo Choo," Doak Walker, co-captain and everybody's All-American from Southern Methodist, Oregon State's Ken Carpenter, Fred Morrison, Ohio State fullback who starred in the last Rose Bowl game, Lynn Chandnois of Michigan State, and Larry Coutre of Notre Dame.

TERMITES
Cause damage in excess of fifty million dollars annually for REPAIRS alone. These destructive pests work in secret and may be destroying your property NOW. Have it inspected by an expert and be sure. There is no your property is not infested they charge for the inspection, and if will tell you so. If termites are present you will be SHOWN and a fair price quoted for a treatment which is guaranteed for TEN YEARS.

Many irresponsible amateurs—self-styled "exterminators" and "part time" entomologists offer fantastic "guarantees" and bargain prices, but you owe it to yourself to be SURE you are securing the services of a thoroughly reliable and FINANCIALLY RESPONSIBLE company whose guarantee really has a meaning.

An effective termite treatment must not only eliminate the termites now present in the structure, but also prevent the countless thousands of others, who live in the GROUND outside the house, from returning.

The almost unbelievable cunning of the termite makes the successful treatment of your property a job for those who have the proper equipment and the KNOW HOW. Further, because of the termites tenacity and persistence it is sometimes impossible to completely exterminate them with ONE treatment.

Therefore it is vital that the company doing the job be AVAILABLE later to return if necessary. Unless you are SURE of this fact you may find yourself with a "Guarantee" but no one STILL IN BUSINESS to MAKE GOOD.

Always remember—a guarantee is only as good as the man who gives it. We are local representatives of a reputable and FINANCIALLY RESPONSIBLE company who are ACCREDITED MEMBERS OF THE OHIO PEST CONTROL ASSOCIATION.

Looking Ahead With Charles Weidinger

"Better late than never" is a saying which does not apply to life insurance. Too often late means never. If you delay in applying for the proper amount of insurance protection you may ultimately find you have fallen below the required medical standards. Each day medical examiners are obliged to turn down applications for insurance from people whose need for it is great. Many of these disappointed people could have qualified a year or so earlier but the development of a health impairment makes them now uninsurable.

Statistically speaking, 20% of men are already uninsurable when they reach the age of forty. Keep this figure in mind. Don't be too late applying for your life insurance. Call me today!

1950 Corn Crop To Be Below Last Year's

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11—The Agriculture Department has forecast a 1950 corn harvest of 3,167,607,000 bushels and a total wheat crop of 996,490,000 bushels.

The department's monthly crop report said Aug. 1 crop conditions point to a corn crop of about 200 million bushels short of last year's 3.4 billion bushels, but about 200 million more than the prewar average.

This year's wheat crop, under federal planting controls for the first time since the beginning of World War I and hit by adverse weather part of the season, may be as much as 13 percent below the 1949 harvest of 1.2 billion bushels.

Improved weather during July boosted the anticipated wheat crop by 40 million bushels over last month's estimate.

A record soybean crop of 271 million bushels is forecast. This is 48 million bushels above production last year and 47.7 million higher than the previous record crop produced in 1948.

The department said excellent prospects for most crops were maintained by favorable growing weather during July. This year's prospects are for an aggregate output of all crops 24 percent larger than the 1923-32 average.

Lincoln Park Going Hungry

COLUMBUS, Aug. 11—Volunteer workers in Columbus' Lincoln Park area have issued an appeal for food, so they can reopen a "relief pantry."

The station, opened several weeks ago for persons whose relief allowances were cut July 1 because of a shortage of funds in the Franklin County welfare department, was closed Wednesday.

Glenn Wirtz, representing the Lincoln Park Community church and the Lincoln Park Civic Welfare League, said last night: "Some of the Lincoln Park people just don't have enough to eat."
